STEAMSHIP CARPATHIA CARRIES 868 SURVIVORS

As the Titanic Carried A Passenger List and Crew Numbering Nearly Twenty-two Hundred Souls, the Loss of Life Will It Is Expected Reach the Appalling Figures of Fourteen Hundred—The Cunard Liner Alone Is Carrying Any of the Survivors, As the Virginian and the Parisian Both Report By Wireless, They Have None of the Titanic's Passengers On Board and the Virginian Is Proceeding On Her Way To Europe.

CARPATHIA STEAMING FOR N. Y.

Meagre Reports That Reach the Offices of the White Star Line, Give No Accurate Idea of the List of the Survivors, As the Carpathia Reports Eight Hundred On Board and the Names of Only Three Hundred and Seventeen Have Been Transmitted By Wireless—The Carpathia Is Due To Reach New York Late Thursday Afternoon, and Another Twenty-four Hours May Elapse Before A Complete List of the Victims of the Disaster Is Obtainable—The Entire World Is Plunged Into Grief By This Greatest Disaster Ever Recorded In the Annals of Sea-Faring.

By Associated Press.

Montreal, April 16.—The Allan line has issued the following statement:

"We are in receipt of a Marconi via Cape Race from Captain Gambell of the Virginian stating that he arrived on the scene of the disaster too late to be of service, and is proceeding on his voyage to Liverpool."

A number of prominent Montreal people were aboard the Titanic, and to allay their anxiety every effort was made by the Allan line office here to obtain information from its steamers near the scene of the disaster. A succession of wireless messages from Halifax, however, brought no response up to 10:30 o'clock this morning. Hundreds remained up all night waiting for news.

Parisian Carries No Survivors.

Halifax, N. S., April 16.—The Allan liner Parisian reports via Sable Island that she has no passengers from the Titanic on board. The Parisian has just come into touch with the Sable Island wireless station.

Washington, April 16.—The Carpathia will arrive at New York Thursday afternoon, according to a wireless dispatch received by Collector Loeb. Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Curtis has directed that the customs regulations be waived and that the landing of everybody be facilitated.

By Associated Press.

New York, April 16.—Captain Rostron of the steamship Carpathia sent a wireless message to Charles P. Sumner, general agent of the Cunard line here, this morning, giving the information that the Carpathia with 800 survivors of the Titanic on board was proceeding slowly toward New York through a field of ice.

The names of 204 first-class and 115 second-class passengers who had been saved from the Titanic, making a total of 319 names, have already been received. According to last report from Captain Rostron of the Carpathia there are about 800 survivors of the Titanic on board, which would show that 481 persons had been saved whose names had not been sent in by wireless.

Another wireless dated at sea from the Carpathia gave the information that Bruce Ismay, managing director of the White Star line, who was saved from the Titanic, had had a conference with the officers of the Carpathia following which the Carpathia turned her course toward New York.

During the morning great throngs of people crowded lower Broadway in front of the White Star line offices and police reserves were called to control the big crowd.

Carpathia Carries All Survivors.

New York, April 16.—Two messages received shortly after 10 o'clock this morning by the Marconi Wireless Telegraph company from the company's stations at Cape Race and Sable Island make it appear that there are none of the Titanic's passengers on either the steamship Parisian or Virginian.

One message reads: "The Marconi station at Sable Island has been in communication with the Parisian and the ship has no passengers from the Titanic."

The other message reads: "The Marconi station at Cape Race, reports they have had no communication with the Virginian and does not believe any of the Titanic's passengers are on that vessel."

Storm Off the Banks.

Montreal, April 16.—The weather signal station on the Gulf of St. Lawrence reported today that heavy fog lay off Nova Scotia and that a violent thunder storm broke in that neighborhood last night and is traveling eastward. It was said that such conditions left little hope for the rescue of any survivors of the Titanic that might still be adrift in rafts or boats.

Message From Carpathia.

New York, April 16.—A wireless message sent by Captain Rostron, of the Carpathia.

A NIGHT OF GRIEF

Relatives Storm the Offices of the White Star Line In New York.

THUNDER STORM

Interrupts the Wireless Apparatus And Silence Adds to the Anxiety of the Watchers.

By Associated Press.
New York, April 16.—All through the night the offices of the White Star line and the newspapers were besieged by scores of persons anxious to learn the fate of relatives or friends on board the Titanic, while a flood of telegrams, cablegrams and telephone messages were received, bringing eager inquiries from different parts of the country.

Officials of the White Star line had little news to impart. Wireless operators worked through the night trying to send and pick up calls from the scene of the disaster. The wireless was handicapped in the early morning by a thunder storm, which finally silenced wireless transmission for a time.

Grief Stricken Watchers.
Gradually the names of the rescued began to come through by wireless by way of Cape Race from the Carpathia and were posted in the companies' offices. There were some who scanned the lists and turned away with faces showing hopes realized, but the many who came were disappointed and grief stricken. A squad of police and an extra force of clerks were called to take care of the inquirers.

Repeated calls were made for information relative to the fate of Maj. Archibald Butt, President Taft's military aide, who is returning from a visit abroad. President Taft telegraphed the company early in the day and was promised immediate word if anything of a definite nature regarding Maj. Butt was received.

Vincent Astor, son of Col. John Jacob Astor, remained up through the night trying to learn the fate of his father. Word came that Mrs. John Jacob Astor, his stepmother, and her maid were safe aboard the Carpathia.

Some Believed to Be Lost.
Members of the Guggenheim and Straus families had representatives at the White Star offices throughout the night in anticipation of some definite word being received concerning Isidor Straus and Benjamin Guggenheim, who were among the prominent passengers on the Titanic. These names were not in the survivors' lists received up to 8:30 o'clock.

Numerous inquiries were received regarding the fate of Henry B. Harris, the theatrical manager, and his wife. The list shows that Mrs. Harris had been saved, but no word came regarding her husband.

Carpathia Expected Thursday.
Vice President Franklin of the International Mercantile Marine, said today that he had heard that the Cunard Carpathia would arrive here on Thursday evening and that his information was that there were 875 survivors of the Titanic on board.

Mr. Franklin said that he did not expect to receive any further wireless messages from the Olympic on this side of the Atlantic and that Captain Haddock of that steamship would soon be in position to send all his wireless reports to the London office.

A cablegram from London received at the steamship office in the night concerning the fate of Sir Cosmo and Lady Duff-Gordon, remained unanswered until this morning when it was definitely ascertained that Sir Cosmo and Lady Duff-Gordon were among the passengers taken from the Titanic and now on board the Carpathia.

Disaster To the Titanic Has No Equal In Trans-Atlantic Travel.

WIRELESS SILENT

Early Morning Brought No Further News of the Disaster.

New York, April 16.—Vice President Franklin made efforts during the morning to get into communication with Montreal and sea board cities for any information which was likely to be sent by wireless.

"Nothing more has been received," said Mr. Franklin, "since the list of passengers was given out. I am trying to get Montreal on the telephone to find out where the Virginian is. She could hardly be returning to this side unless she had some of the Titanic's passengers aboard."

"The only authentic news we have is from the Carpathia, which is returning here with 875 of the Titanic's passengers. All the reports are coming by way of Cape Race, and we expect to hear soon all of the details."

It was stated at the White Star offices that President Taft had sent a number of dispatches to Halifax inquiring about the safety of Major Butt.

SOME HOPE

That Some of the Passengers May Be Adrift In Life Boats.

Washington, April 16.—A quick report from the White Star line on the number of life boats and life rafts carried by the Titanic has been telegraphed for by Superior Inspector Fisher of the government steamboat inspection service.

Sonator Guggenheim of Colorado, in telephone consultation with the White Star line officials in New York today, was unable to learn the fate of his brother, Benjamin Guggenheim, reputed one of the wealthiest men in the world. So far as known his wife did not accompany him.

The company gave me one encouraging statement," said the senator—"that the Titanic carried all the life boats required under the laws of the United States and Great Britain. Of course, the number already reported included a considerable number of boats. It is possible that some of the life boats got away from the scene and that they may be picked up by other vessels not yet heard from."

STARTLING MAGNITUDE OF TITANIC DISASTER

Is Mitigated But Slightly By the Meagre and Fragmentary Information That Has Filtered Into New York By Wireless From the Atlantic Today—Favorable Facts Seem Insignificant Alongside of the Stern Reality That the Ocean Leviathan Lies At the Bottom of the Sea—Revised Figures Show That the Number Believed To Be Lost Is 1,341.

YOUNGSTOWN PASSENGERS SAFE

Direct Wire From the White Star Line Office In New York To the Office of Col. George D. Wick In This City Brings the Pleasing Intelligence That Mr. Wick, With His Wife and Daughter and Miss Bonnell Are Aboard the Carpathia, En Route To New York—The Meagreness of News and Especially of the Details of the Disaster Renders the Situation One of Great Anxiety—No Definite Word Is Yet Had As To Many Notables Who Were On the Passenger List—The Sinking of the Great Liner Will Involve A Monetary Loss Exceeding $10,000,000.

The appalling magnitude of the wreck of the giant liner Titanic has been but little mitigated by the fragmentary information which has filtered into New York today. The rescuing steamer Carpathia has 868 survivors on board, according to the latest news received at the offices of the White Star line in this city. This increases the list of saved by about 200 from the number first reported. But, except for this, the favorable details are insignificant compared with the supreme fact that the Titanic is at the bottom of the Atlantic and that the shattered wreck took with her about 1550 victims to their death.

The first reports giving the total survivors at 675 were varied by more favorable news early today, first from Captain Rostron of the Carpathia, who gave the number at about 800, and later by the positive announcement of the White Star line that there are 868 survivors of the Titanic on board the Carpathia.

But with these revised figures there crowds of relatives and friends of passengers on board the Titanic thronged the steamship offices in all three cities waiting hour after hour for news that more often than not when it does come, means bereavement and sorrow. People in Paris and London went to bed last night in the belief that all the passengers on board the Titanic had been saved; this morning brought them the appalling truth.

Of the survivors on board the Carpathia by far the largest number are women and children. Many men of great prominence on two continents are among the missing. No word has been received of Col. John Jacob Astor; his wife, however, having been saved.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt was not on board the Titanic as first reported, he is in London. Isidor Straus, the New York millionaire merchant and philanthropist, who was on board, has not been reported among the survivors.

The fact that the Titanic's boats

COL. WICK AND PARTY SAFE

The following telegram was received at the local office of Col. George D. Wick in the Wick building Tuesday noon.

"White Star line reports that Miss Caroline Bonnell, Miss Mary Wick and Mr. and Mrs. George D. Wick are all among the list of those saved."

(Signed) WILLIAM D. SHELDON & CO.

remain 1341 persons, passengers and crew, of the Titanic who are today unaccounted for and apparently lost. Hope clung desperately this morning to the belief that the steamers Virginian and Parisian of the Allan line may have picked up survivors in addition to those on board the Carpathia, but this was practically dispelled at 11 o'clock when the Sable Island wireless station reported that the Parisian had no survivors on board, and when the officers of the Allan line in Montreal issued a statement that the captain of the Virginian had sent them a wireless message saying he had arrived at the scene of the disaster too late to be of service.

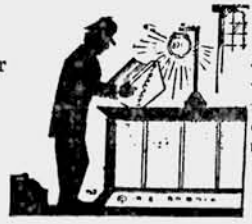

Both the Virginian and the Parisian therefore appear to hold out no hope of further reducing the extent of the calamity.

The Virginian has proceeded on her way for Europe.

The Carpathia, having on board the only survivors accounted for, is coming in slowly to New York. All hope for details of the tragedy and its effects are centered on this ship. She will be in wireless communication with Sable Island tonight, with Nantuxet on Thursday, and she will reach New York some time Thursday night.

London, Paris and New York are grief stricken and overwhelmed by the news of the disaster. Tearful

John Austin Alleged To Have Struck a Woman Monday.

Claim He Was Trying To Raise Writings—Several Husbands Arrested On Complaint of Wives.

John Austin was arrested Monday night for being a suspicious character. It was alleged that he was caught raising windows at houses in the rear of 237 East Boardman street. One woman sought to intercept him and he struck her. Austin is being held for investigation.

John Flood and George Collins were arrested for trespassing. It is claimed these men belong to a gang of "bums" who have been in the habit of entering vacant houses in Poland avenue and damaging the property. They were each fined $5 and costs Tuesday morning.

Steve Eycok was locked up Monday night for intoxication and disturbance. He was arrested on complaint of his wife, but pleaded not guilty Tuesday morning and will be tried later.

Peter Carver was drunk and created a disturbance at the home of M. Valanco, 722 Franklin avenue, Monday night. He got $1 and costs.

Charles Nobel called at police station Monday night. He was drunk and made so much noise reporting the loss of a watch that he was arrested for intoxication and disturbance. He got $1 and costs.

John Gordon of 214 West Front street, arrested Monday night for beating his wife, pleaded guilty Tuesday morning. Sentence was reserved until his wife can appear against him.

John Boggs was locked up for assault and battery Tuesday morning, on complaint of his wife. He was given a hearing and drew $25 and costs. Mr. and Mrs. Boggs reside in Pike street.

"John Doe," the Italian manager of the Columbus theater in East Federal street was arrested for assaulting a boy named Eddie Gartland. He was

Shows the City Records to be in Excellent Shape—Some Minor Irregularities.

The report of State Examiner C. S. Metcalfe, who has been some time ago going over the books and records in various municipal offices, has been filed with the state auditor and a copy has been sent to City Auditor Dan Jones. The report shows that the records were in excellent shape. But $115 had been due for recovery, $105 in over-payments and $10 from the market master. All of this money had been paid in before the examiner was here. No illegal payments were discovered and all funds under the previous report had been adjusted excepting $622.05 against former Mayor Graver, who had refused to collect exorbitant charges against moving picture theaters with the result that the examiner made a finding against him, which it is claimed the state has no right to expect the former executive to pay as the money was never received, and 75 cents each against Patrolmen Rosenberg, Ryan and Bowdell for pound fees illegally collected.

Adam Handell Alleged to Have Violated Closing Law.

Adam Handell, who cops a hotel and saloon at Champlin and East Front streets, was arrested Monday night on a warrant charging him with violating the Sunday liquor law. Hayes Shingledecker, arrested Sunday with liquor in his possession, said he got it at Handell's place. Tuesday morning Shingledecker said he was not in Handell's bar-room and denied that he bought the liquor found on him. He claimed it was left at the saloon Saturday night for him. Handell is out of jail on bond in the sum of $195 pending hearing.

HOPING IT'S TRUE

New York Report That Colonel Wick and Wife Were Saved Lacks Confirmation.

Relatives and friends of Colonel George D. Wick and the other local passengers on the Titanic had their hopes raised Tuesday noon when Colonel Wick's office in this city received a telegram from Wm. C. Sheldon & Co., business associates of Colonel Wick in New York City, that the White Star line reported that Mr. and Mrs. Wick as well as Miss Wick and Miss Bonnell were among those saved.

It is feared, however, that this news is almost too good to be true and the friends of Colonel Wick refused to allow their hopes to be raised so high until they had some verification. Efforts were made at once to verify the telegram over the long distance telephone.

CHANGED BOATS

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund L. Brown Had Originally Intended To Sail On the Titanic.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund L. Brown of Wick avenue, who returned home Monday, are congratulating themselves that they were not passengers on the Titanic. Mr. and Mrs. Brown reached New York last week on the Olympic, the sister ship of the Titanic, but they had engaged passage on the Titanic. They later exchanged passage for the earlier boat as they desired to reach home sooner.

TABLET TO DONORS.

At a meeting of the executive committee at headquarters Tuesday morning, Joseph G. Butler, Jr., president, it was decided to erect a bronze "Campaign Tablet" in the new hospital building to contain names of contributors who give $1,000. In this connection, it is interesting to know that the name of the late Governor Tod appears on the tablet in Charity hospital, Cleveland, which was erected probably fifty years ago. The names remain through all the years. An offering of $5,000 will endow a bed in the ward, while an offering of $500 will furnish a room, a plate upon the door of which will bear the donor's name.

In the new building there are to be four operating rooms, each of which will require $5,000 to equip. Upon the door of each will appear the name of the person making the offering.

SURELY OVERCOMES INDIGESTION OR DYSPEPSIA IN A FEW MOMENTS

Eat a few of these and all Sourness, Heartburn, and misery from a sick, upset Stomach will vanish.

Time! In five minutes all stomach distress will go. No indigestion, heartburn, sourness or belching of gas, acid, or eructations of undigested food, no distension, bloating, foul breath or headache.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in regulating upset stomachs. It is the surest, quickest and most certain remedy in the whole world and besides it is harmless.

Millions of men and women now eat their favorite foods without fear—they know it is needless to have a bad stomach.

Please, for your sake, get a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store and put your stomach right. Don't keep on being miserable—life is too short—you are not here long, so make your stay agreeable. Eat what you like and digest it; enjoy it, without dread of rebellion in the stomach.

Diapepsin belongs in your home anyway. It should be kept handy, should one of the family eat something which doesn't agree with them or in case of an attack of indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis or stomach derangement at day-time or during the night it is there to give the quickest, surest relief known.

The Ocean Disaster.

The disaster at sea, the sinking of the Titanic, greatest ship ever built, strong, a palace of the ocean, carrying down some fifteen hundred to the deep, is the greatest loss of life and treasure of this century of marvelous advancement in every direction, particularly in ocean travel.

A Widespread Complaint.

Over in old England they've just made an inquiry into the matter of the unemployed and they find that sixty-seven per cent of the men out of work, not counting the strikers, are under forty-five years of age and one third are under thirty years old.

Oklahoma is preparing to celebrate the twenty-third anniversary of the famous run of would-be settlers when the lands there were first thrown open to settlement.

There's a job ahead for the peace-makers in the Republican ranks that will stagger them. The time isn't long enough between convention and election for them to make a success of it.

AN EVENING OLIO.

OUT TO SEA. H. P. U. Cleveland, O. Out and away on the boundless sea, Fairly high, the paper weaves.

Now on the crest of a breaker high, Now in the trough like a lullaby. Rocked and rolled by the surging tides, Neck to neck with the wind it rides.

Abraham Lincoln, president of the United States, signed the bill for the emancipation of slaves in the District of Columbia, and it became a law.

YOUNGSTOWN FIFTEEN YEARS AGO.

About $75,000 will be spent on the new Canfield infirmary. Bishop Fowler lectures in the Opera House May 8 on Lincoln.

A Cincinnati woman urges a curfew law that will drive all the men home at 9 o'clock in the evening and permit the women and children to have the streets and parks to themselves.

Former Governor Haskell of Oklahoma says that men who wear evening clothes are unfit to preside over the destinies of the nation.

Up in Toledo they have three-cent fare two hours in the morning and two hours in the evening, and now they have brown car tickets that seem to give the patrons of the city lines a chocolate taste in the morning and evening.

Question for the House: To the Editor of the Olio. Sir: Why the deuce don't all Democrats urge the nomination of Roaring Roosevelt, since he would be so much more easily beaten than Mr. Taft?

DEMOCRATIC DUTY.

Next Saturday being the last day when petitions may be filed for the May primaries, there being a number of vacancies inevitable on the Democratic ticket if the filing is not done on or before that date, it behooves Democrats to be up and doing with alacrity and ardor.

TELEPHONE EXASPERATION.

When a telephone subscriber, who has paid for the machine's use for years, learns from a merchant, who finally gets connected, that he was told by the accommodating central operator, "I guess they've had the phone taken out," that statement made inside of half an hour after the subscriber had used the line, the subscriber is considerably more than human if not more than Venus.

POTATO-PLANTING PROBLEM.

With potatoes about $2 a bushel locally, $1.75 more than 15 years ago, and seed potatoes as high in price as the roof of the house, potato planting this spring is likely to be less than usual for the seed alone would cost all the way from $5 to $75 and may be more an acre, according to quality or reputation of the potato seed.

NOT NOW KONKURRING.

Hon. James Kennedy, urged to run again for congress, remains mute, even though the city is said to need the celebrity Mr. Kennedy's candidacy would abundantly provide.

Greene, City. A lad of six with curly hair. Sat wondering what he would do When he should reach the age Of his granddad now eighty-two. He knew not the hardships thro' which he must go. Nor the great trying battles of life; In fancy he pictured the years passing by. As he whittled away with his knife. He would be a great soldier as granddad had And lead in the thick of the fight, But it never crossed his mind the hundred of dead. Who fell for the cause they thought right. He wondered why granddaddy's hair was gray While his was so curly and brown And why did grandfather walk with a cane. When he went a-shopping in town? In his old armchair the old man sat And he sighed as his memory reverted To the agonies of his childhood, then civil-war days. And the army he once helped disperse. In a vision he saw the wounded and slain. And once more heard the pitiful cries Of his comrades who'd fallen and he muttered, "War is hell!" As he drew a hoary hand across his eyes. And the prayer he sent to heaven was: "May it never be God's will That for the boy to engage in battle "His fellow men to wound and kill" He sat there in silence until by and by The little boy slowly did creep Close up to his chair, then softly he said. "Poor granddad has fallen asleep!" Yes, sir. The elephant-ear looks well—sort of tropical—in a yard or garden. FAIRLY FITS THIS CITY. Butler (Pa.) Eagle. There is nothing that we as residents of Butler can do for our city to add to its attractiveness that would cost so little effort and that would contribute so much to our city as to make a resolve—and carry it out—that we will clean up our own property and make it look as presentable as possible. If each of us will take it upon himself to clean up his own property Butler will become the cleanest city in the country. By cleaning up your own yard you will help materially to make Butler one of the finest places in the world in which to live. Cleanliness is contagious. You clean up your yard and your neighbor will follow your example. Help spread the gospel of cleanliness and beauty. This clean-up business is not a question of money, but of pride in your home and respect for your neighbors and the community in which you live. Add to the tidy appearance of your property by making repairs to the house and fence. Don't forget the cellar and use plenty of whitewash. Cultivate a lawn and flowers. If you have a garden make it neat. Let all who reside in Butler help to establish city-wide cleanliness, order, sanitation and out-door attractiveness. And let this be our motto: "I pledge myself to keep our yard So neat and gay with flowers, The evergreen in front, and the will pattern after ours. "I pledge myself to keep our alley So clean and free from dirt, That not a fly will harbor in it. To do my neighbor hurt. "I pledge myself to hold In every way I can In the beautifying of our town And the betterment of man." What's the matter with Andy Carnegie for president and J. Pierpont Morgan vice? For Excellent Reasons. Answers. The grubby-looking man stood in the doorway, with determination on every line of his unshaven countenance. The housewife who faced him was equally determined. "Yes, mam," said the shabby man; "the gov'nor sees to me, 'Go and get Mr. Jones's dress suit to be cleaned and pressed. The lady'll give it to yer.' The gov'nor's a tailor, you see, mam." "Oh!" replied the lady. "And did you see mam?" "I did, mam," came the answer, "my me own eyes. He sees: 'The lady'll know. I let a message at 'ome.' Plainly Mrs. Jones was perplexed. The trickster felt he had nearly achieved his object. The lady's reply finally crushed him, however. "Well," she answered, "all I can say is that Mr. Jones never had a dress suit, and for the last five years he's been in Canada." Then the grubby man boited. Plugocyte No. 2. ### OLD FOLKS FIND NEW REMEDY ENDS ALL KIDNEY AND BLADDER MISERIES

Drives Rheumatic Pains Away. Relieves Backache and Bladder Disorders After a Few Doses Are Taken.

Sleep disturbing bladder weaknesses, backache, rheumatism, and the many other kindred ailments which so commonly come with declining years, need no longer be a source of dread and misery to those who are past the middle age of life.

The new discovery, Croxone, cures all such disorders because it removes the very cause of the trouble. It soaks right into the kidneys, through the walls and linings; cleans out the little filtering glands and cells, and gives the kidneys new strength to do their work properly. It neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid substances that lodge in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism; and makes the kidneys filter and sift out all the poisonous waste matter from the blood and drive it out of the system.

It matters not how old you are or how long you have suffered, Croxone is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. You will find it different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It starts to work immediately and more than a few doses are seldom required to relieve even the most chronic, obstinate case.

It is the most wonderful remedy ever made for restoring the lifeless organs to health and strength and ridding the system of every particle of uric acid, and you can take it with the utmost confidence that nothing on earth will so quickly cure such conditions.

You can obtain an original package of Croxone at trifling cost from any first-class druggist, such as the Averbek Drug Co., who will personally return the purchase price if Croxone should fail in a single case.

SOUTH SHARON IS NOW FARRELL

Judge Williams At Mercer Signs Decree Changing Town's Name.

Employer of National Malleable Castings Plant So Badly Injured Imputation of Leg Is Necessary.

Special to the Vindicator.

Sharon, April 15.—Coming like a bolt out of a clear sky yesterday afternoon was the announcement that the United States National Convention, which affords employment to thousands of workmen, would never again turn a wheel in any of its big mills in South Sharon. Merchants and businessmen ceased to do business in South Sharon and South Sharon was without a fire department, police force, council and other borough officials. It was not because of some dire calamity, plague, or pestilence, but because Judge A. W. Williams obliterated South Sharon from the map by signing the decree changing the name of the town from South Sharon to Farrell, Solicitor Benjamin Jarrett received word from Mercer that the court had granted the petition of the citizens praying for a change of name, effective immediately. The name of the town was changed in honor of President James A. Farrell, of the United States Steel corporation, and meets the approval of nearly every taxpayer. It is probable that the council will make arrangements for holding a big banquet in honor of the event, and many nobles will be invited to be present.

FINDS A CURE FOR PERSPIRING FEET

After Spending Over $100 on Various Remedies, Resinol Proved Efficient.

Are you troubled with perspiring feet or annoying perspiration elsewhere? If so, just try this simple treatment. Wash the affected part twice a day with cool water and Resinol Ointment. Here are a few words of proof from one who tried Resinol for this and other uses:

"I began the use of Resinol Ointment about ten years ago for piles, results satisfactory; finally used it for all local troubles, and lastly for perspiring feet, and it was more than satisfactory, and that after I had spent over a hundred dollars for different remedies and fees without results. Since then I have recommended Resinol Ointment to dozens of people, and it has never failed to cure. D. L. Killian, Memphis, Tenn."

And to suggest still further the wide application of Resinol, let us quote this letter from Mrs. M. L. Lane, downe, Paulsboro, N. J.: "My baby had a crust come on his skin which covered his whole body. My doctor told me to use Resinol Ointment. I did and it cured him. His skin is now as smooth as velvet. I shall always keep a jar on hand. My hands were cracked and bleeding. I used Resinol Ointment on them and the next morning they were entirely well."

Resinol Ointment stops itching instantly, and with the aid of Resinol Soap is the ideal healing application for eczema and other skin eruptions, pimples, blackheads, burns, scalds, boils, ulcers, and piles. Your druggist recommends and sells Resinol Soap (25c.) and Resinol Ointment (50c. and $1.00.) but for a generous free sample of each, write to Dept. 17, N. Resinol Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md.

A severe electrical storm passed over this vicinity at midnight doing considerable damage. A large unoccupied house on Canal street, Wheatland, was struck by a bolt and demolished. The home of John Lewis on the opposite side of the street was damaged at the same time, five windows being broken. The house that was partially destroyed was owned by D. A. Woodward and Squire Edmund Scott. The bolt hit the house in the upper part and the four sides of the house were literally torn apart. Timbers and glass were thrown hundreds of feet. The vacant house had been occupied by about twenty foreigners up to a few months ago. It is hardly probable that any would have escaped had they been living in the place Sunday night.

That troubles never come singly is exemplified in the case of Mrs. A. R. McGill, who was called to her former home in Carnegie yesterday afternoon by a telegram stating that her mother, Mrs. Bard, had been seriously burned yesterday. A few hours after she left for the bedside of her mother, her husband, Auditor McGill, cashier of the First National bank, was hurried to Buhl hospital in Roberts' ambulance where he will receive treatment for gallstones. Mrs. Bard's condition has not been learned, but Mrs. McGill was urged to hurry home because she was in the yard burning some leaves when her dress was blown into the fire and within a short time she was enveloped in flame. It is not believed that her condition is serious. Mr. McGill was able to go to the bank yesterday but soon after was taken ill and returned to his suite of rooms at Carver Hall. A doctor was called and he advised that he go to the hospital. It is not believed that an operation will be necessary and he will be able to leave the institution within a few days.

Caught in a cable shield at the National Malleable Castings plant last night, Samuel Timshale, 39 years of age, of 1111 Hamilton avenue, Farrell, was so badly injured that physicians found it necessary to amputate his right leg below the knee. The man was rushed to the Buhl hospital.

GREWSOME FIND

Body of Infant Found In Outbuilding Near Lowellville School.

Henry Schroeder and Marshall Tony Fisher of Lowellville Monday afternoon discovered in an outbuilding to the rear of the North Side Lowellville school the dead body of a baby boy. The infant was well developed and had evidently lived for some time. Due to the fact that something unusual had happened in that place was furnished by residents of the vicinity, who asserted that a young woman had passed the night of Monday, April 8, in the outbuilding. Coroner Cross was notified and went to Lowellville Monday afternoon. He held an autopsy over the body and uncovered unmistakable proof that the infant had lived. There was, however, no signs of violence of any kind, in view of which legal authorities state, in connection with the other facts of the case, that it will not be possible to prosecute any one. Inasmuch as the child was certainly born in the building, death may have resulted from exposure.

A young woman was later taken to the office of a physician and is now being cared for by Lowellville friends. She is in a very precarious condition, but it is thought that she will recover. Monday afternoon a week ago she came to Lowellville in quest of a

NEWS OF OHIO

Nominating Petitions For Gov. Wilson Have Not Yet Been Filed.

COX' PERJURY CASE.

Supreme Court Hears Argument Against Cincinnati Boss—$5,000 Pledged For Billy Sunday.

Columbus, April 16.—The petitions nominating Governor Wilson of New Jersey as the opponent of Governor Harmon in the presidential preference primary to be held in Ohio, May 21, have not been filed with Secretary of State Graves, but they are expected at any time now. They must be turned in by not later than next Saturday, when the time for the filing of petitions expires. The petitions of all candidates for offices to be voted upon at the May primaries must be submitted to the election boards by not later than that day.

Langdon Opens Headquarters. Lawrence K. Langdon, minority leader of the house of representatives, now a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, will open state headquarters in Columbus probably before the end of the week. He was in Columbus Monday conferring with state leaders regarding his candidacy. Mr. Langdon took an important part in the enactment of the laws creating the state tax commission and the public service commission. He is the first to weigh in for the Republican nomination.

Hear Argument In Cox Perjury Case.

The case to determine whether or not Judge William L. Dickson of the Hamilton county common pleas court did right in quashing the perjury indictment against George B. Cox was argued to the supreme court Tuesday morning. It was brought up on exceptions of the prosecuting attorney, Henry T. Hand, now mayor of Cincinnati. Cox testified before the grand jury that he did not know anything about county treasurers making unlawful deposits of public funds in certain banks of the profit of the treasurers. It seems that when the Drake investigating committee was probing this crooked use of the people's money in 1906 that Cox gave testimony indicating that he knew all about these transactions, and, in fact, was consulted as to them. The perjury indictment was based on this. Judge Dickson, in quashing the indictment, held that the grand jury infringed upon the constitutional rights of Cox by compelling him to be a witness against himself in a criminal case. Cox was represented in the supreme court Tuesday morning by Lawrence Maxwell, former solicitor general of the United States; Charles W. Baker, once the Democratic candidate for the United States senate, and Thomas H. Darby, for assistant district attorney at Cincinnati. Prosecuting Attorney Thomas L. Poole and Attorney General Hogan represented the state.

$5,000 Pledged For Billy Sunday.

The total pledges for the Billy Sunday campaign to be held here next winter now amount to more than $5,000. It is planned to raise from $25,000 to $30,000. About $32.00 was pledged within a few minutes Sunday by the Wesley M. E. chapel. Nearly 60 of the Columbus churches will take part in the Sunday meetings. A corporation is being formed to handle the financial affairs of the meetings.

More Squirrel Hunters Turn Up.

The legislature made an appropriation of $1,000 a year ago for the Squirrel Hunters and practically all of the money has been used up. Some seven or eight years ago, at the behest of these patriots an allowance of $5,000 was made so that all who participate in the Squirrel Hunter campaign could get $15 for the month's service they gave the state when it was feared General Kirby Smith intended to invade it from the South. At each session demand has been made for more money, and already many thousands have been appropriated, but it seems that not one half of the Squirrel Hunters have been paid, and just when the state will get them all compensated is problematical. Not one of these defenders of the Union ever discharged a gun in their service. In numbers they seem to be multiplying, because each year the number applying for the $15 is larger than for the preceding year.

Judicial Appointments Coming Soon.

Governor Harmon said Monday afternoon that he expected to be ready within a few days to announce the appointment of a new supreme judge to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge James L. Price several weeks ago. He will also at the same time, probably appoint a successor to the late Judge Prescott Smith, of the superior court of Hamilton county.

COR. E. FEDERAL & WALNUT

"Mary Jane's Pa."

With Irene Loftus, a local girl, playing one of the leading parts, Wright Huntington and his stock company opened their second week's engagement here at the Grand Monday evening in "Mary Jane's Pa." The house was crowded and Miss Loftus and the rest of the cast were tendered a flattering ovation.

While the local girl had one of the most exciting parts of the play she acquitted herself like a star and spoke her lines like a seasoned actress. If her acting Monday evening can be a criterion Miss Loftus has a bright future before her. She has the looks and acts as if she were perfectly at home upon the stage.

"Mary Jane's Pa." is one of those plays, the scenes of which are laid among the quaint rural folks of Central Indiana. Its characters are drawn true to life and they are the very kind of people you would expect to meet in a small country town such as Gosport is. The play is as sweet and wholesome as a breath of new-mown hay.

In staging "Mary Jane's Pa." Mr. Huntington sought first for realism. The bulk of the play has been carried out to make the scenes as real as possible. All the scenery was made at the local opera house. The settings of the last act depicting Portia Perkins' home at night time are exceptionally cleverly conceived and executed. The printing room scene in the second act in which the Gosport Clarion is gotten out under great difficulties, is nerve gripping. The hand press used in this act is the one on which the first copy of the Vindicator was run off. At the conclusion of the second act members of the company were forced to respond to a number of curtain calls.

The play is built around Gosport's live, political intrigue and village gossip. Hiram Perkins, a man with the soul of a Jack London, leaves his wife and two children when he hears the call of the Wanderlust. He is gone for 11 years. During his absence his wife runs the Gosport Clarion. Rome Preston, an honest young man who loves Portia Perkins, is running for the state legislature against Joel Skinner, a rich man and a crook. Portia Perkins champions the cause of Preston. Perkins returns and his wife offers him the place of a servant in her home. He accepts, which gets the neighbors to talking. In the second act, in order to protect Mrs. Perkins, Rome Preston dies the form containing a sensational story against Skinner. She and her husband save the day in an exciting scene. Mary Jane, the youngest child, becomes greatly attached to her father with-out knowing who he is. In the last act Mrs. Perkins tells the neighbors that the hired man is her husband.

Wright Huntington makes a capital Hiram Perkins, man of letters and traveler. Fanchon Campbell plays the part of Portia Perkins, mother and newspaper woman, in a splendid manner. Joel Skinner, politician and miser, probably the most difficult part in the play, is acted in fine fashion by T. T. Hook.

Preston is manfully portrayed by Lawrence Gratton. Miss Saville is a scream as the souffragette, while other comedy characters are cleverly played by Miss Gerard and Messrs. Jeffrey, Beach, Dahley, Amory, Starling and Warner. Every member of the company deserves special mention for his or her clever acting.

"Mary Jane's Pa." is a play of types, rural and interesting. It is a great production.

One of the Park's Best Shows.

The new bill which opened at the Park theater Monday is just about the best of the season. For those who enjoy vaudeville with plenty of fun and music, getting away from the stereotyped acrobatic feats, sketches, etc., the present Park bill is a great treat. It is different from other programs presented here. There is plenty of singing and lots of high-class instrumental music in the show. It is full of mirth and melody. Every act is a big winner and if the Park theater is not packed at every performance the city will demonstrate it is unappreciated. A bill which would be a sensation in any theater. Father & Shea have certainly sent the real goods to Youngstown this trip and the large audiences at the Park Monday afternoon and evening fairly went wild over the various acts.

Frank Morrell, "The California Boy," when he told his jokes and stories has never been heard in the Park before and his ballad singing is magnificent. He sings three ballads after telling a great routine of original stories. He was given encore after encore. Morrell does his act in black-face. He is a real comedian and the greatest vocalist heard at the Park since he was last there with the Coban & Harris minstrels. When it comes to getting all the effect possible out of a ballad Morrell is in a class by himself.

No prettier singing and talking skill has ever been presented here than "At the Flower Stand" by Dorothy Brenner and Joseph Radcliffe. Miss Brenner is a startlingly beautiful girl, just full of talent, while her partner is as clever as he can be and possesses a pleasing stage presence. Their singing is delightful and their act as a novelty is a lure. Such laughter as resulted from one of those neat and pretty things which can only be appreciated by those seeking something new and elevating in their variety entertainment.

An act which opens the bill and serves to put everybody in a good humor for the splendid features to follow, is introduced by Josephine Saxton and her clever pieces. Miss Saxton is a thorough artist, while her little dainties sing and dance with an abandon which is refreshing.

The Holl-Boy Trio is a typical singing and dancing specialty, but much better than the ordinary act of this kind. They have new songs, all catchy numbers, and their comedy is really worth the laughs. They are a big hit on the new bill.

Jack Horton and Mlle. Trikska have an original act called "The Clown and the Doll." Mlle. LaTrikska as the human doll, who is taken out into the audience, put to all sorts of tests and shows marvelous endurance. All manner of things were done to make her wink or show some other signs of animation. In vain. The act closes with a clever song and dance. Horton is an old fellow who adds much to the pleasure of the specialty by his funny quips and merry jests.

The Gordon Highlanders, four Scotch entertainers, close the bill. The folks are certainly great performers. They sing, play odd and intricate musical instruments and dance. They offer all sorts of music, the up-to-date popular stuff as well as the beautiful old-time Scotch melodies. They are finished artists and the act certainly deserved all the applause it received and it can be judged how the specialty was accepted when the performers had to respond to four encores despite the fact that the act closed the bill. This is really unusual and is a great compliment to the Highlanders. From start to finish the show is a treat.

SKIN CRACKS OPEN

PAINFUL RESULTS OF ECZEMA MAY BE SOON OVERCOME.

Try This Remedy At Our Risk.

In chronic eczema the skin often becomes thickened and cracks open, greatly increasing the painful symptoms and making cure more difficult. We now have a new remedy, Saxon Salve, of such remarkable healing power in all forms of eczema and other crusted and scaly skin eruptions of every kind that we guarantee it to give perfect satisfaction. It penetrates the skin so thoroughly with its germ destroying power, that you can see great improvement even in the first few days.

It not only stops the terrible itching at once, but begins healing the cracked and tortured skin at the same time. No matter whether the sufferer is a baby or a grown person, the results are the same and the disgusting crustion soon disappears. Try Saxon Salve—if you are not satisfied, we refund your money. ### WORK FOR ALL

Secretary Hanson Says There Is No Excuse for Idle Men in the City These Days.

There is no necessity for able bodied men being out of work in this city at the present time. There are more jobs than men, says Secretary Hanson of the Charity Organization society. The secretary was a visitor at a public court Tuesday morning. He was told of finding a few itinerant or loafing men out of work that wanted jobs but found none. At present there are jobs open for mill men, farmers, laborers and odd-job workers. There are also positions for a few carpenters and blacksmiths.

You will look a good while before you find a better medicine for eczema and other skin troubles than Chamberlain's. It not only gives relief it cures. Try it when you have a cough or cold, and you are certain to be pleased with the prompt cure when it will effect. For sale by all druggists.

Brenlin Window Shades

—Look much better, last longer!

Brenlin shades are the cheapest you can buy. True, they cost a little more than ordinary shades at first, but they last several times longer. For Brenlin is made of closely woven cloth without the "filing" that makes other shades crack, wrinkle, fade and show unsightly "join holes." Brenlin Shades always hang straight and smooth and really shade. It is false economy not to have them.

CHANEY DENIES HE'S CANDIDATE

Cleveland Report Says He Is Considered For School Head There.

Local Man Says He Has Had Offers Made But Is Not a Candidate.

According to reports from Cleveland, Superintendent of Schools N. H. Chaney of this city is a candidate for superintendent of the Cleveland public schools. It is said that Dr. Chaney is one of the four men who are being talked of for the place. Dr. Chaney denies that he is a candidate, however.

"The story is absolutely false," said the local school head. "I am not a candidate. I have had offers made but I am not a candidate anywhere. I have been in Cleveland frequently during the past few months delivering lectures to men's clubs on moral and religious subjects. However, I have had no official communication with anybody connected with the Cleveland school board. I have friends in Cleveland and they have talked to me about the situation there but I am not a candidate."

It is reported in Cleveland that Dr. Chaney, S. G. Pearce, superintendent of schools at Milwaukee; E. E. Scribner, superintendent of Ishpeming, Mich., and B. U. Rannels of Cleveland are all being considered by the Cleveland school board.

Supt. Chaney has been in Cleveland recently and made known his candidacy at that time, according to a story in the Cleveland Plain Dealer Tuesday morning.

Miss Harriet Keeler is at present superintendent of schools in Cleveland, having been elected temporarily by the Cleveland board as a compromise candidate a few months ago when W. H. Elson resigned as superintendent in that city. Miss Keeler is an elderly woman and it is not thought she will remain. Her term expires on August 31, but the school board of Cleveland may elect a new superintendent to take office any time after May 1.

WHAT A TONIC SHOULD DO

Increase the Strength and Give Vigor to the System.

Webster's dictionary defines a tonic as a medicine that increases the strength and gives vigor to the system. That tells why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are so useful. Thousands of men and women are ailing today, not sick in bed but without strength and ambition to do a full day's work. No one organ seems to be at fault yet the whole system is lacking in health. They cannot sleep or rest, are always tired out or nervous. Many have headaches, backaches and stomach trouble. All such people need the tonic help of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. The beneficial influence of this medicine reaches the whole system. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do more than relieve one or two of the symptoms, they remove the cause.

The experience of Mrs. James F. Meynell, of Sullivan, Mo., with this blood-making medicine is given in her own words, as follows: "My reason for recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People to others is that they saved me from a long illness, probably from consumption a few years ago. When teaching a country school I became so completely run down that I could not attend to my duties. My appetite failed me and I became so weak that it was with great difficulty that I could walk upstairs. I had palpitation of the heart and was short of breath. I also lost in weight. The people with whom I boarded recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I gave the remedy a trial and soon felt my strength returning. In a very short time I was perfectly well. More recently I again took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and have been suffering from rheumatism for several months. The disease settled in the joints all over my body. I could just get around the house by the aid of a chair. The pains were so sharp that I could hardly leave from my room until early fall. As the doctor did not help me I again turned to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I gradually got better and took the pills until cured and have had no return of the rheumatism since."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

JOHN PAUL JONES' STATUE UNVEILING SET FOR APRIL 17

The monument to John Paul Jones authorized by congress in 1906, when $50,000 was appropriated for the purpose, will be unveiled at the entrance to Potomac park April 17. Charles Henry Niehaus of New York was the sculptor selected to make the statue, and he represented the great sea fighter as he stood on the deck of the Bonhomme Richard during the engagement with the Serapis and other British vessels off the coast of England Sept. 20, 1779. He wears the costume of the naval officers of the period. His left hand rests on the pommel of his sword, while his right hand is clenched in sympathy with his compressed lips.

I Am The Vindicator Want Ad!

I live that others may be happy and prosperous. Every day I carry hundreds of messages to many thousands of men and women. Never was there such a busy worker, such a tireless worker, as I.

A purse is lost; I restore it.

A home is without a maid, a maid is without a place; I bring them together.

New furniture is bought. I find a purchaser for the old. How many attics have I emptied, to the housewife's profit!

Is there laundering, scrubbing, whitewashing, painting, sodding, to be done? Leave it to me!

One man has a house for sale; another is looking for a home. They consult me, and lo! the house changes hands.

Bookkeepers, salesmen, stenographers, watchmen—all kinds of workers—look to me to keep pay-day alive.

Merchants and manufacturers call me, saying: "I want such and such help." In the morning they have only to choose.

How my work is appreciated! People never tire of praising me! I am so swift, so faithful; yet I make no promises. I simply do the best I can, for one and all.

And how cheaply I work! I have sold second-hand automobiles at the cost of a gallon of gasoline. A man bought a piece of property, one day; the next he sent me out to sell it; the next, the deed was recorded. He made $600.00, less my fee of 30 cents. Is it any wonder I am popular? And isn't it a wonder I am content to dress in six-point type? Why, every day somebody telephones, calling me off the ob, saying I have done enough.

I haven't always been as important as I am now. Oh, dear, no! There was a time when I had very few opportunities to exercise my talent. I remember how good I felt when I first filled a column. Everyone in the office talked about it. But now! Well, you can see for yourself how I have grown. Yet how could I help growing, when I was all the time doing such wonderful things?

I am still growing. The doctor says it is because my circulation is so good. I am glad of it. I want to become more and more useful to the people of this big, beautiful city. If there are any whom I haven't served, I present my most respectful compliments and solicit a test of my powers. As for my old customers, they feel, of course, that they can't get along without me!

NEWS OF GIRARD

Girard, April 16.—A meeting of the old soldiers of Girard and vicinity will be held in the village council chamber Thursday evening at 7 o'clock when officers will be chosen for the Girard Veterans' association and arrangements started for the decoration day observance which promises to be more elaborate than ever this year. The old soldiers of Girard and near locality are expected to be on hand in goodly numbers.

Death of Infant.
Selma, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Soine of the north part of town, died yesterday.

Girard Relatives Concerned.
A special newspaper dispatch reads: Twenty-five students of Bradley Polytechnic Institute at Peoria, Ill., were injured when the second floor of the big Woolner distillery, which they were inspecting, gave way under the weight of 75 members of the party.

Charles E. Ewert, well-known Girard young man, is a student in the Bradley Institute, but it is not known that he was one of this inspecting party. Girard relatives, naturally concerned as to his safety, have written him and are anxiously awaiting reply.

The report further states that the accident occurred while the young people were standing around a big fermenting vat the workings of which were being explained by the superintendent of the plant. No list of the injured is given.

Advertising Rate Increased.
Effective on and after May 1 the advertising rate in the Girard News letter of the Vindicator will be seven cents a line. The great superiority of the Vindicator as an advertising medium is recognized by Girard merchants and citizens who freely use its columns to advertise their wares or make known their wants. The rate for classified advertising in one insertion for 25 cents or three times for a half-dollar.

Reception for Newlyweds.
Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Knight, who were recently married, were tendered a reception last evening by the Epworth League of the M. E. church of which he is the president. The league presented them a beautiful set glass sugar bowl and pitcher as further evidence of esteem and regard in which the president and bride are held by their associates in the church. The event was a most pleasant one throughout and included a delicious luncheon and program of musical and literary numbers given in the church parlors.

Discuss Ohio Suffrage Campaign.
Miss Elizabeth Hauser will give a talk on the campaign for women suffrage in Ohio at the meeting of the Political Equality club in the home of Mrs. Theresa Wilson on Wilson avenue this evening. Miss Hauser is taking a prominent part in the Ohio campaign and her address was the meeting this evening a greatly added significance.

Security of Laborers.
A great security of laborers is reported at the local industrial plants in some instances interfering to some extent with operations.

Goes With Salem Team.
Billy Carroll, popular and nifty catcher for the Girard Independents, is signed with Salem. His battery partner, Billy Wallis, had opportunity

Gets Reformatory Sentence.

John Keopancie, the young Girard man who was found guilty of a crime against a weak minded girl, was sentenced to serve an indefinite term in the Mansfield Reformatory by Judge Wilkins on Monday morning. Sheriff Rice will take him to the institution some day this week.

Confiscates Defective Equipment.

County Sealer of Weights and Measures Harry Wilson has practically completed his work in Girard and Niles and next starts in Warren. In his rounds he has found it necessary to confiscate many measures and scales because of being found defective. He also reports having found many antiquated measures and scales in use.

Briefly Told.

The meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the First Christian church announced for tomorrow at the home of Mrs. Fowler, has been postponed.

The Rebekahs will meet this evening, when a full attendance is desired.

Mrs. Ann Moss, one of Girard's oldest and most highly respected residents, seriously ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Brown.

Friendship Lodge, K. of P., will meet this evening.

The plate and skelp mills at the Byers plant are again operating, the slight difficulty with the shearmen having been adjusted satisfactorily.

W. J. Whitworth of Youngstown was a visitor here yesterday.

For rent, five nice rooms over Pringle's millinery, water gas, electric light. Inquire of Mrs. S. J. Pringle.

Dr. Paden has removed to Niles, where he has opened an office. Calls for Dr. Paden should be left at Lotze's.

Warner Marshall of Boston is visiting his mother at Mosler. He left today on a brief business trip to Dayton.

Edward Carlton has broken ground for a new home in North avenue.

EASY AND SURE WAY TO CURE COLDS

Don't Neglect a Cold, Ely's Cream Balm Will Stop It in the Sneezing Stage.

A cold generally attacks the weakest part, affecting the eyes and ears in front and producing nasal catarrh and throat troubles in others. A cold is due to an inflammation of the membrane lining the air passages, and may be promptly cured with a little Ely's Cream Balm, which immediately relieves the inflammation and all the distressing symptoms, such as sneezing, coughing, running at the nose and eyes, hoarseness, sore throat, fever and headache. One reason why this pure, antiseptic Balm acts so quickly is because it is applied directly to the tender, sore surfaces.

Even in severe, chronic cases of catarrh, Ely's Cream Balm never fails to quickly and effectually check the poisonous discharge which clogs the head and throat, causing the disgusting, hacking, spitting and blowing of the nose. This remedy not only cures out the disease, but heals and strengthens the weakened membranes, thus ending catarrh.

Catarrh is a filthy, disgusting disease. Don't put up with it another day. Get a 50 cent bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist and see how quickly you will be relieved. It is perfectly harmless. Special agents, the Averbek Drug Co.

VEST POCKET ESSAYS BY GEORGE FITCH

About this time of the year the baseball fan comes out of his winter overcoat, takes his voice out of his automobile, where he has been using it as an alarm signal and begins to converse about baseball from behind third base. When this happens we know that summer is coming, even those of us who are almost totally deaf.

The baseball fan consists of two men occupying the same suit of clothes. In the morning the fan is anything from a minister to a quiet respectable millionaire, with his mind cluttered up with bond issues. You cannot tell a base ball fan from a rational being at breakfast unless his wife asks him to read the morning paper at the table. But in the afternoon the fan ejects the other occupant from his clothes and takes them out to the baseball park where he affixes them firmly to the safe side of a pitch pine plank in the bleachers, and convulses, erupts, detonates, steam strens and explodes until the simooms and tornadoes of sound make business difficult a quarter of a mile away. Casual visitors to this land from England and other rest cures look with alarm at the sight of a bank president, tearing off his collar, dancing on his hat and pleading for a small bite out of the umpire, and these visitors return home with grave doubts as to the stability of our government.

GOODBYE TO STOMACH MISERY. One Day's Treatment Will Make Any Dyspeptic Joyful. After one 50 cent box of MI-O-NA stomach tablets have put your tired, out, distressed stomach in tip-top shape, dear reader, don't be selfish, tell all your friends about this grand remedy and let them share in its benefits. MI-O-NA will stop stomach distress, indigestion pains, sour rising of food and heaviness after eating in five minutes. It will make the digestive juices of the stomach flow freely so that all food put into the stomach will be digested and not half digested. It will make the digestion of food so perfect that the blood will receive plenty of pure nourishment, which in turn it will supply to the nerves, muscles and all the organs of the body. This means that dizziness and biliousness will disappear, nervousness will vanish, and headaches, tossing about in bed, restlessness, shortness of breath and despondency will be a thing of the past. A full treatment of MI-O-NA stomach tablets means that instead of feeling miserable, out of sorts and blue, vigor and vitality will return and good health will be indicated by a clear skin, bright eye and springy step. Right at the beginning of a great skirt season we inaugurate our Spring sale of Women's Skirts with a remarkable offering of 462 CLOTH SKIRTS in Fifty-two Modish Models.

Running from the simple tailored skirt to the latest development in dress skirts. The fabrics are many; the colors equally varied, the tailoring is superb. These skirts practically constitute our entire stock, all new and accepted styles. The women to profit by the saving will have cause to be truly happy, and it is a great pleasure for us to present these values.

Whipcord Skirts, $4.75 instead of $6.50

All wool quality, plain gored, panel front and back. Open side of front with large pearl buttons, grey, navy and black.

Assorted fabrics, up to $6 values, $2.50

This group of skirts includes many styles, but of each style we have only a few skirts. They are all this season's models and exceptional values at these extraordinary prices. All colors.

Homespun, $5.00 Skirts, $3.98

Also some diagonals. Both these fabrics are very popular this season and have been reordered time and again. Grey and tan. Plain tailored styles.

$10 Mixture Cloth Skirts at $6.75

Very attractive Outing Skirts. Plain tailored with panel front and back. Novelty fabrics in various combinations of smart colors. All sizes and exceptional values.

New $15 Voiles, now at $7.98

These represent the best Voile Skirts created this season. The fabric is extra fine and the styles range from plain tailored to silk braid trimmed models. Splendid Dress Skirts. Mostly all sizes.

White Wash Corduroys, $5 instead of $8.50

We fortunately were able to secure a larger than usual number earlier in the season or we would not have been able to include them in this sale. Large pearl buttons down front where skirt opens.

Extra Size Skirts, $6 values, $4.75

This group includes many styles in Serges. We do not believe there is as large or as smart a showing of extra size Skirts in the city outside of this store. Navy and black, the two leading extra size colors.

Continuing the Sale of Dresses

NAVY AND WHITE SERGE DRESSES with low neck and 3/4 sleeves; very pretty styles, at $5.75. WOOL CHALLIS DRESSES. The light colors in stripes, brown, navy and black—also figures; $12.50 values, at $8.75. NAVY SERGE DRESSES with Baby Irish collar and cuffs; panel front and back; $25.00 values, at $17.75.

Second Floor.

Here it is! The Millinery news that will startle the women of this city. 300 Beautiful Summer Hats at $10, instead of $12 & $15.

All new models of delightful individuality. ALL READY TOMORROW-WEDNESDAY.

Our milliners have worked overtime reproducing these 300 beautiful hats from new, Paris and New York models just introduced into the Millinery world.

We look upon this, our handiwork, with pleasure, and we believe you will as well.

But in making up this large number at one time, we were able to save on cost of materials, and in turn offer our fair clientele, the benefits.

Out of the many models, three are described:

A White Milan Hat

A beautiful model of medium shape with brim slightly rolling on one side; trimmed with soft white ostrich combined with bows of wide black velvet ribbon. A chic semi-dress hat that would usually be considered a good value at $15.00.

$10.00

Instead of $12 and $15.

A Fashionable Black Hemp

A braid hat, very new sloping head size that fits snugly; brim slightly rolling from front. Excellent trimmings of American Beauty shade of velvet ribbon and masses of foliage, volutes and American Beauty Roses.

An Exclusive Gage Model

A very becoming, locket shape made of soft braids. Black crown and white brim. Trimmed with beautiful green velvet bow and pink rose buds.

CITY STUNNED BY TRAGEDY SUSPENSE IS TERRIBLE

Relatives and Friends Frantically Endeavor To Get News of the Ocean Disaster—Entire Population of Youngstown Eager To Learn of the Safety of the Local Tourists—Many Messages Sent and Received.

Stunned to the depths of its social and business life Youngstown is gasping in horror and awaiting in terrible suspense more definite and detailed news of the loss of the steamer Titanic, which had among its passengers four of Youngstown's best known residents—Col. and Mrs. George D. Wick, Miss Natalie Wick and Miss Caroline Bonnell.

Relatives and friends of these local passengers on the fated and fallen monarch of the seas were somewhat relieved to learn the news that the names of Miss Wick and Miss Bonnell were among the list flashed by wireless from the ocean to those rescued from a watery grave and now being borne shoreward on the steamer Carpathia.

Hope still exists that perhaps after all Col. and Mrs. Wick may be among those saved. However, this hope grew fainter during the day Tuesday at least so far as Col. Wick is concerned when it was learned that while the reports were that all the women and children were rescued only 79 men survive the Titanic. Members of the family and friends also fear that if Col. Wick could not get on board and might have been miles away when the Titanic went down.

Relatives In Suspense.
Relatives and friends of the Wicks and Miss Bonnell were almost paralyzed Monday evening when informed of the loss of the Titanic. Their first alarm had been quieted and many were looking forward to hearing about the thrilling experiences of the returning travelers when their ship struck an iceberg. However, the later news spread like wild fire and not only through the extra editions of the local papers but by telephone from friend to friend and acquaintance to acquaintance. Immediately efforts were made by local relatives to learn more definite news from the offices of the White Star Line and other possible sources of information in New York. The telegraph and telephone wires between Youngstown and New York were kept busy every minute of the time Monday night and Tuesday.

Fernley Bonnell, brother of Miss Caroline Bonnell, was about to start out on an evening automobile trip when he was informed over the telephone of the sinking of the Titanic. Friends and relatives hastened to his home and there spent the large part of the night trying to get news. Another group of friends were having a party in the home of Ralph David in Boardman.

MAJOR ARCHIBALD BUTT, Aide to the President, A Titanic Passenger.

a life boat Mrs. Wick refused to leave him and thus perhaps may have gone down with her husband. Local friends said Tuesday morning that they hardly dared hope that Col. Wick would be among the 79 men saved as they supposed these men were the sailors who manned the life boats of the Titanic.

The news of the loss of the Titanic received Monday evening came with all the more shocking force because earlier fears had been relieved by the wireless reports Monday that the Titanic's passengers had all been transferred to other steamers. There was still considerable amazement that their reports of rescue could have been false when it was said that four other steamers were in touch with the Titanic. However, it is now supposed that the steamers were actually only in wireless communication

One of the guests received a telephone message regarding the disaster and immediately called for a taxi cab to return to the city. The joy of the evening gathering turned in a moment to the greatest sorrow and fear.

Eager For Information.
Mr. Bonnell was naturally greatly relieved to learn the report of his sister's safety Tuesday morning when relatives of Col. Wick spent the morning in the offices of the Youngstown Securities Co. in the Wick building, trying to get every possible item of information which might tend toward ending the suspense. Among those who spent the morning at this office were Philip Wick and Thos. L. Robinson, president of the Republic Rubber Co. It was stated there Tuesday that in all likelihood Messrs. Frank and W. J. Hitchcock, brothers of Mrs. George Wick, would leave during the day or in the evening for New York to be on hand to meet the survivors when they landed.

May Land Friday.
Little hope was expressed that the Carpathia bearing the rescued passengers would be able to get through quarantine and land its passengers before Friday. L. B. Burger, agent for the White Star Line in Youngstown and manager of the foreign department of the Dollar bank, said Tuesday morning that possibly the Carpathia might reach New York by Wednesday night. Local friends will necessarily be in such suspense regarding those rescued until they are once more on shore and until it is learned how they have undergone the terrible ordeal.

Relatives In New York.
Mrs. J. M. Bonnell and Mr. Hugh Bonnell, mother and brother of Miss Caroline Bonnell, are in New York and will be on hand to meet Miss Bonnell when she lands so Mr. Fernley Bonnell stated Tuesday morning that he would not go to New York.

Business generally in the city was forgotten because of the news of the disaster which was the one topic of discussion on the street and in the business places and the homes. Everybody hungered for more news of the Titanic's loss and the fate of its passengers.

Many Reports Received.
Many reports were received from New York local people aside from the Associated Press reports. Thomas L. Robinson learned over the long distance phone from the First National bank of New York that all the women passengers and seventy-nine men had been saved. L. J. Campbell received a telegram at 10:07 a. m. at New York from his father, J. A. Campbell, president of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube company, who went to New York on business Monday evening. Mr. Campbell's message was as follows:
Local Girls Saved.
"Latest information here indicates Caroline and Natalie safe, but no word from Mr. or Mrs. Wick."

L. B. Burger, local agent for the White Star Line, has been in direct communication with his company. He received a message Monday informing him that the Titanic had struck an iceberg but that the passengers were safe. He immediately asked the headquarters of the company to keep him posted and at 9 o'clock Monday night received the following message:
"Titanic sank at 2 a. m. Fear number of lives lost. About seven hundred saved. Carpathia proceeding New York. Hope others on Parisian. Will wire any other particulars later."

Relatives On Way To Europe.
Mr. Burger stated Tuesday morning that Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wick, Mrs. W. J. Sampson and little daughter and two maids, who sailed last Saturday for Europe on the Olympic, the sister ship of the Titanic, had endeavored to secure passage on the return trip of the Titanic, but could not get accommodations. The Olympic was one of the steamers in wireless communication with the Titanic and consequently Mr. Henry Wick and his party know of the probable loss of Col. George Wick. Their state of mind can be imagined.

There is considerable conjecture locally as to what possibly could have caused the Titanic to sink after striking the iceberg. State Senator David Tod, who has just returned from a sea voyage to the West Indies and Panama, gives one plausible explanation. He says that at Jamaica he noticed the wrecks of a couple of liners. He expressed surprise that any ordinary collision should have caused their loss and was told that the impact of the collision had caused the joints of the boilers of these steamers to become loosened and the boilers to explode, blowing holes in the bottom of the ships. Mr. Tod thought this same explanation might fit the case of the Olympic.

On the desk of Agent Burger in the Dollar bank were a number of circulars printed in several languages announcing the return trip of the Titanic, "the greatest and most marvelous steamship in the world," from New York on April 20, next Saturday. These circulars were in great demand as souvenirs Tuesday.

SOCIETY

The Bell Telephone girls announce their second leap year party for Wednesday evening in the K. of C. hall dancing, to accompaniment of Boyle's orchestra, in the order of procedure announced.

The final assembly of the Delphic club for this season will be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Gessaman, Pleasant Grove, Friday evening. Members of the club and their husbands will be included in the guest list.

Mrs. Mary Padlock, House Mother of the Harvey Home at Salida Beach, Cleveland will be the guest and speaker at Wednesday's assembly of the Girls' Friendly of St. John's church. Supper will be served promptly at 5:30 and every member and associate member is urged to attend the meeting.

Mrs. J. H. Rowden, Evergreen avenue entertained members of the South Side Chapter, Home for aged Women at a matinee assembly Monday. Reading and music presented by the little children of the hostess Lothair and Verntia Rowden added to the enjoyment as did a dainty luncheon.

The next business meeting of the chapter will be held in the home of Mrs. Henry Seltz, Oak Hill avenue, Monday, May 6th. Officers for the ensuing year will be elected at this time. The Ladies of the Aid society, Evergreen Presbyterian church have arranged a social for members of the congregation and their friends for this evening in the church parlors. An excellent program will be presented and refreshments will be served. The object of the assembly is good fellowship and a cordial invitation is extended to everyone.

Dr. William Goodell Frost, president of Berea college will be the speaker and guest of honor at the Brotherhood assembly in the First Presbyterian church Friday evening, April 26th. The R. M. B. G. girls of the Y. W. C. A. will entertain the R. M. B. G. girls of the New Castle association at supper in the new association building Thursday evening. Miss Eva Scott is in charge of the program.

Church Affairs.

The Ladies' Aid society of St. James' mission, will have a social and sale in the mission, corner of Albert and State street, Thursday, to which they invite the general public. Special services were held in the church Sunday evening. Rev. Iron, preached an excellent sermon, and the St. Andrew's Mission choir presented music. The church has been renovated, a new carpet donated by the Aid society and a basement added. The money for the improvements was subscribed, and the committee desires to thank all who have assisted in the worthy work.

OCEAN TRIPS

Are Dangerous This Season of the Year Owing To Icebergs.

John Gallagher, Who Has Crossed the Atlantic 31 Times, Tells of His Experiences.

John Gallagher, who has crossed the Atlantic thirty-one times, declared that his heart went out to the passengers of the Titanic when he learned that the big ocean liner had collided with an iceberg. He says the sea is treacherous and choppy off the Newfoundland coast and south of Cape Race.

Mr. Gallagher stated that the White Star line, which owned the Titanic, employs an army of seamen that the experienced navigators have to be distributed. Because of the fact passengers of the ocean going vessels become very nervous when reference is made to life boats. As the Titanic was a new boat, Mr. Gallagher believes that the White Star line would select capable and experienced men for her maiden voyage, and this precaution may have been the means of saving many lives.

In the year 1903 Mr. Gallagher traveled from Ireland to America during April, and the vessel on which he was a passenger sailed through a great sea of icebergs a few hundred miles off Cape Race. The icebergs chilled the sea. All day the vessel dodged icebergs but fortunately did not collide with one.

Mr. Gallagher describes the sights of the icebergs in the sea as most beautiful. They appear like great glass castles rushing on aimlessly. They melt as the water line and become more dangerous to navigation.

CONTRACTOR HERE

Noted Builder in Conference With President Crawford of the Local Traction Lines.

A meeting between President Norman McD. Crawford of the Traction company, and F. C. Carland of Toledo, general railway contractor, was held in the former's private office Tuesday morning. Mr. Carland is one of the most prominent street railway and railroad builders in the country.

Mr. Carland built the line of which Mr. Crawford was general manager before coming to Youngstown. He makes a specialty of constructing suburban lines. Just what significance Mr. Carland's visit may have is not given out. However, it is thought to have some bearing on the rumored line into Cleveland by the local traction company. Mr. Crawford said Mr. Carland's visit was merely the result of old friendship and did not pertain to business in any manner.

REFUSED TO DIVULGE SECRET

Mrs. Pruitt Attributes Her Suffering In Later Life to the Fact That She Kept Her Condition Secret When a Young Girl.

Hickory Grove, S. C.—"I was in bad health before I married," writes Mrs. Mary Pruitt, of this place, "but kept it a secret, as most young girls do. I am sure if I had taken Cardui, the woman's tonic, when I was young, I would not have gone through seven years of suffering. "Soon after I was married the trouble became so severe I was forced to seek relief. I tried every doctor I saw, and five different doctors in one town. They claimed they could cure me, but all failed, and we decided that I would never be well. I had such aching and drawing pains in my back, legs, sides and head, that I would cry and scream and tell my husband that I was going to die. "Finally, one day, he read in the Ladies' Birthday Almanac about Cardui, the woman's tonic, and got a bottle for me. After taking the first dose I felt better, and after using one bottle I never did have any more pain. "It relieved me at once. "I can never praise Cardui enough." Cardui has been found to relieve women's pains and strengthen women's weakness.

To Every Woman

Bring this advertisement to our Notion Department not later than one week from today and receive, absolutely free, a regular 10c card of

Wilson Dress-hooks

These popular new Dress-hooks are not ordinary hooks and eyes or snaps—they will completely overcome your dress-fastening difficulties. The free cards are not samples but the same value for which you would regularly pay 10c.

We make this most unusual and liberal offer as we are confident you will find Wilson Dress-hooks the very thing you have always wanted. They can't come unhooked or "pop" open accidentally. They hold securely without bulge or gap, though you can unhook them with perfect ease. Guaranteed not to rust or crush in washing and ironing, and to outlast any garment; perfectly flat and never show. Don't neglect this opportunity to try the Wilson Dress-hooks you have seen so widely advertised in the leading magazines and style books. Used by fashionable women everywhere and endorsed by leading dressmakers.

Cut Out this Advertisement and present at our Notion Department. Large and small sizes. Gray, Black and White colors. One dozen on a card. We can not give a card to any one who has received a card free from any merchant or the Wilson Dress-hook Co., Cleveland, O. None given to children.

The "Mary Garden" Perfume

Is the latest addition to our excellent assortment of imported and domestic Perfumes. It's delightfully fragrant—the hit just now in New York.

Priced at $2.00 an ounce. Get a trial supply, a quarter of an ounce for 50c, and know its delights. (Main Floor—Old Building)

The Vogue of the Silk Suit Is Sweeping the Country

The races held last week at Autenil, the fashionable race course near Paris, brought out a bevy of Silk Suits. The fashion is being taken up in this country with unusual swiftness; and the Silk Suit now, is the favorite of most careful dressers.

Unusual interest attaches to the charming Silk Suits featured here at $29.50 to $62.50.

Fashioned of fine Chiffon Taffetas, one and two button Coats with wide revers, collars are of Ratine or rich Lace, plain or elaborate models. Skirts are plain, trimmed with buttons.

Colors are Navy, dark Purple and changeable Purple.

They're suits of the striking character that finds favor with discriminating wearers.

See them, if only to admire. (Second Floor—New Building)

The Smart Middy Blouses Are Coming In Again

When Spring appears, dress thoughts turn to the cool, comfortable things. The Middy Blouse is one of them—every season sees it in great request.

We have two specially interesting values that deserve quick attention.

At 59c, Middy Blouses of White Linon with Sailor collar and cuffs of Red or Blue dotted Linon. Shield in front.

At $1.25, "Royal" Middy Blouses of fine White Linon, with Sailor collar and cuffs of Blue, trimmed with rows of White tape. Sizes 14, 16, 18 and 20, in both groups. (Second Floor—New Building)

The Broadest Selections of Dainty Wash Goods

Such superb assortments—such fresh beauty—no wonder there's so much activity around the Wash Goods Section these days.

It's the nicest collection we've owned—distinguished for the pleasing quality of everything and the fairness of prices.

Women who are planning their lighter dresses can ill-afford to miss the display. Just a hint of some:

Anderson's Tissues, 32 inch, 37 newly beautiful patterns, at 25c yard.

French Embroidered Tissues, self or colored embroidered, lovely goods at 50c yard.

Woven Wash Silk Jacquards, at 25c yard. Silk Pekin Stripes, at 25c yard.

Floral Chiffons, at 35c yard. Bordered Silk Mousselines, 48 inch, particularly handsome, at $1.25 yard.

Imported Colored Swisses, light or dark grounds with self or contrasting colors, an unusually fine lot at 50c to $1.50 the yard.

Voile Marquise, 40 inch, all good plain colors, special value at 35c yard.

Voiles, the choicest lot you'll see in this city all the staple colors and new French shades, at 19c, 25c, 35c and 50c yard.

Silk Stripe Voiles, at 25c and 29c yard. Costume Pique, in all the best plain colors, at 25c yard.

Corded Habutai Silk, 28 inch, at 50c yard. Embroidered Swisses, priced at 35c yard. (Main Floor—New Building)

Fine Silk Petticoats Of the $5.00 Class at $3.95

An attraction that will create a stir in the Petticoat Section tomorrow.

These are Petticoats of the better grade, made of the best wearing qualities of Taffeta, Messaline and Siren Wash Silk, with tailored or plaited flounce, fitted top or drawstring.

Black, Tan, Brown, Green, Pink, Wine, Navy, Copenhagen, Alice, King's Blue and Reseda. Some were $4.50, but two-thirds of them are regular $5.00 values.

Exceptional, indeed, at $3.95. (Second Floor—Old Building)

Wash Day Needs For Less Tomorrow

These special opportunities are for tomorrow only—four worth-while economies.

Strong Clothes-line Props, 8 feet long, special at 2 for 25c.

Glass Wash Boards, very often sold at 50c, special at 35c.

Skirt Boards, 54 inch, extra wide, tomorrow at only 55c.

Tomorrow, a Sale of House Dresses at $1

These are just the very Dresses that women like to wear when house-cleaning time comes along—sturdy, dark and all surprising values.

House Dresses and Wrappers, of good Percales, in Navy, Cadet, Black and Grey with neat figures and stripes.

The kind you're always glad to buy at $1.25 and know you're getting something durable and neat-looking. We look for them to disperse quickly tomorrow at $1.00. (Second Floor—Old Building)

Cold Storage Protection For Your Furs

That means we'll clean and dust your Furs, then hang them up to spend the Summer in a freezing temperature where the air is dry and dustless—in our Cold Storage Vault on the 6th floor.

No danger of moths, fires or burglars. It's the safest place in Youngstown for the storage of Furs.

Charges are decidedly reasonable. Phone 347, and we'll call for them.

Marion Harland's Helping Hand.

Marion Harland is recognized by the editors of every woman's magazine in the country as the greatest authority on all matters concerning housekeeping and homemaking. This great authority is to be absolutely at the service of this paper's readers in helping them solve any problem of housekeeping. If you don't know what to do in regard to any household problem write to Marion Harland, in care of this paper, and she will gladly help you.

The Information Bureau.

To Clean Satin Slippers.

"Will you please publish directions for cleaning pink satin slippers?" Mrs. A. A.
With a soft wash brush all dust from the slippers. Buff them with cotton, and clean with chloroform. Use outfitting fannel for this purpose, dipping a fresh part in the chloroform as fast as one portion of the cloth becomes soiled. Go over both slippers carefully, then set in a warm place to dry thoroughly before removing the "stump."

Platter Removed First.

"What is the correct way for a maid to remove the most courses? I am in doubt whether she should remove the platter and vegetable dishes first or the plates." W. H.
First of all, the platter must be taken from the table. If the vegetable dishes have been on the table, instead of having been passed from the sideboard, have them removed after the meat platter. After that, the plates are taken off, two at a time, never piled one on top of the other.

Query for Numismatist.

"I have two American silver dollars, one dated 1799 and the other 1877, and one 1894 Bank of England dollar. Can you tell me if they are valuable?" F. E. P.
As I have said often, I know nothing of the value of old coins. Will some of our numismatists supply this correspondent with the desired information?

Take Bags to Maker.

"Mother has two hot water bags almost new, but they seem to give out around the seams, and both leak. She would like to know if there is any way to mend them."

I have heard that hot water bags can be mended, in fact, have had mine mended by a dealer in rubber goods. But I do not know the process. To be sure that the work is done satisfactorily, I advise you to take the bags to a manufacturer of such articles and have them repaired by him.

Must Remove Polish.

"Will some of the readers please tell how I can paint or enamel a walnut bedroom suite white? Will the polish have to be removed first?" READERS
To prepare the bed for painting, you must scrape it down, removing every vestige of polish, then sandpaper it perfectly smooth. If you wish to paint it white, you will have to apply several coats of white paint to make a satisfactory foundation for the enamel, as the walnut coloring would surely show through one application. When the surface of the wood is sandpapered and ready for treatment, go to a paint dealer for materials and instructions for enameling the surface of the bed.

Woolen Wedding Present.

"Please suggest what would be a suitable present for the fortieth wedding anniversary. I am ignorant as to the meanings of different wedding anniversaries." IZZY
The fortieth anniversary is the "woolen wedding." For this occasion, you could give the of the simplest and it needs no pressing. She insists that her things are not going to look all alike, either. The crepes can be embroidered and hemstitched or trimmed with braid and buttons, the skirts can be made long or short. She has ordered several dresses for tennis, which are to be made with loose shirts and Byron collars. She has tried heavy cotton crepe in a Norfolk suit, and found it ideal, so she is enthusiastic about her plan, feeling sure it is going to be a great success.

Will Wear Crepe Gowns

A local girl noted for her stylish costumes has announced that she intends to wear nothing but cotton crepe this summer. She has experimented, and says no other material satisfies. Its softness makes it invariably becoming, and it is easy to care for—the laundering process is of the simplest and it needs no pressing. She insists that her things are not going to look all alike, either. The crepes can be embroidered and hemstitched or trimmed with braid and buttons, the skirts can be made long or short. She has ordered several dresses for tennis, which are to be made with loose shirts and Byron collars. ### Repairing Toys

"Five cents' worth of pattern maker's glue has kept my children's playthings in very good condition during the past year, says a Suburban Life by natural selection, make friends only of the right sort. He may speak to others, but if he is thoroughly "nice" himself, he will not be harmed by the chance and casual intercourse. I wish more anxious mothers appreciated this fact.

Wants to Clean Bow.

"Kindly tell me how to clean the hair of a violin bow?" L. H.
Referred to some of our musical members.

In Quest of Poem.

"Kindly tell me where I can find a little poem entitled 'The Vicar's Sermon.' I have looked in bookstores for years. The clerks never seem to have heard of it. We used to speak it in school over twenty years ago."

I do not remember that I ever heard of it. I hope some of my readers are less ignorant on this subject than I.

Clean with Gasoline.

"I wish to get directions for washing a light cream colored, silk knit shawl. It is much soiled and has fringes." Mrs. J. B. G.
Do not attempt to wash it in water, but clean it with gasoline. Put it in a bowl full of the liquid and soak it up and down, changing the fluid as often as it becomes soiled. When the shawl is perfectly clean, put a towel over the radiator, and hang the shawl on this until all odor is dissipated.

Use of Chafing Dish.

"I received a beautiful chafing dish as a gift. Would you please tell me what is to be prepared in a chafing dish?" E. E. B.
You may cook in a chafing dish any article that could be cooked in a saucepan or frying pan. This contrivance is used especially for informal suppers, or luncheons, when the hostess cooks the main viand herself in the chafing dish. Among popular dainties thus prepared are oysters and clams, creamed and à la Newberg, Welsh rabbits, sauté kidneys, mushrooms, and sweetbreads. There are one or two excellent books on chafing dish cookery.

To Meet Little Girl.

"How can a boy become acquainted with a nice little girl he has seen in his school? In our neighborhood there are not any we wish our boy to associate with. He would like to become acquainted with a little girl who is in his school room. He does not have any good playmates." READERS
If he wishes to do the perfectly proper thing the lad may ask the teacher or principal in his school to introduce him to the small girl he fancies. But surely more children could get aside such conventionalities. In which case your lad may walk up bravely to the maiden and say to her: "May I know you? My name is so and so. Please, what is yours?" If she is, as you say, "a nice little girl," she will return his honest advances with like candor, after which he may make himself so polite and agreeable that she finds him an equally "nice" little boy.

May I add a word just here? Try not to worry if your boy is thrown with all kinds of children on his way to and from school. If his home influence is what it should be, he will, conductor. As soon as a little chair, broken or almost anything else gets broken I warm the glue and make the necessary repairs at once. Sometimes a tack or little nail must also be used, but I think that the little trouble required is more than repaid by having the playthings whole and presentable, and the children enjoy them more when in good condition. It also teaches a lesson in order.

Wants Old Reader.

"If any of your readers have an old McGuffey's Third Reader published about twenty-five or thirty years ago, which the owner does not care for, I should be glad to get it." E. K. H.
This query is from a correspondent who is such a good friend to the Corner and has been so generous and open handed to the needy that I should feel a keen personal disappointment if he were not to find the desired book. This in the second appeal published for an old McGuffey's Reader. Surely some one must have a copy of this volume that we does not care to keep.

Seeks Dress Form.

"Has any one of your readers an old dress form which is no longer of use to her, size 34? I am a girl, 18 years old, the oldest of six, and have just started to work, and find that, if I had a form, I could learn to make my own dresses, thereby saving two where I now only have one. Perhaps a dressmaker who has 'more forms than she wants' may have a No. 34 to spare. I hope so.

If 'A. C.' gets this she may be able, not only to make herself one gown instead of two, but to fashion occasionally a dress for one of the other five members of the growing family. Perhaps even the weary mother of six will get a new dress after the "form" becomes an established fact in the household.

Must Fight Moth.

"I have seen your advice on different things. Would you please tell me how to clean a white fur set and a white fur hat, and if I lay it away in the summer, would you advise me to put moth balls with it?" Some-Reason.
Rub into the fur as much boracic incense as it will hold, being sure that each hair is coated with it. Wrap in a sheet or large towel, and lay aside for several days. Then shake and beat out the powder, and the dirt will come with it. Repeat the process if necessary. Certainly in laying the furs away for the summer, mothballs or camphor, or some other preparation to keep out the ubiquitous moth must be put with them.

Home for Old Lady.

"You may be able to tell me where I can get some good old lady that would be willing to come and make her home on the farm with us. I cannot pay wages, but shall board her and give her a good Christian home if she will help me a little about the house. I get very lonely, as neighbors are few and far between, and I have always lived in a large city heretofore." Parsons's Wife.
There must be many "old ladies" to whom this offer of a home during the heated term will be most welcome. This farm is in the west—a fact which I hope any possible applicants will bear in mind in writing me for "Farmer's Wife's" address.

is what I will give you if your case is curable; if not, I will not accept your money and promise to refund it for you. I am a specialist in all the many curable ailments of men. I guarantee that my treatment cures when others fail to even begin.

QUICKEST CURES That Stay Cured

Remember, my treatment is different and better and COSTS YOU NOTHING more than you are willing and satisfied to pay me.

VARICOSE VEINS

I daily demonstrate that varicose veins can be cured in a few days. All cases by one treatment in a satisfactory way that the patient is relieved of all pain, swelling, and a healthy circulation is re-established. Instead of the depressing conditions, I give you a cure to stop cured or the money for services rendered.

HYDROCELE

Tapping a hydrocele affords temporary relief and the scrotum is left in a state of inflammation. Injecting carbolic acid, iodine preparations are vicious and rarely result in a permanent cure. My method is a direct cure. My method is a direct cure.

SCORES OF MEN

Have been Cured by ONE TREATMENT

Why Not Call Today? You May Be Able to Obtain It

I want every reader to understand I do not claim to be able to cure any known incurable disease and that I do not accept cases that in my opinion have reached a complicated incurable condition. You run no risk in calling to see me, as I strictly adhere to my announcements, and you will not regret seeing me if you are suffering from any of the few diseases I treat.

Wall of Water Twenty Feet High Sweeps Small Towns

New Orleans, April 16.—Parts of thirteen parishes in northeastern Louisiana are facing a deluge unparalleled in the history of disastrous floods of the lower Mississippi valley. Numerous small towns in East Carroll and Madison parishes have been wiped out, vast stretches of valley lands are covered by from six to twenty feet of water and a wall of devastating water twenty feet in height and more than a mile in width is rushing through the great dog-tail coveaus near Alsatis, La.

Thousands are homeless and destitute. What will be the toll when the waters from the Panther forest and Red Fork crevasses in Arkansas join water pouring through the dog-tail breach no one can say. Parts of thirteen Louisiana parishes and two Arkansas counties will be under water and a conservative estimate is that the homeless in that territory will total 50,000.

Second National in Cincinnati Has Cash to Meet Demands.
Cincinnati, April 16.—The Second National bank, which has been taken over by the Cincinnati clearing house pending the formulation of plans by its stockholders for a reorganization satisfactory to the comptroller of the currency, opened as usual. About $2,000,000 in cash was on hand to meet a run, but there were no unusual demands.
The assurance given the depositors by the clearing house banks that they would be paid in full had the desired effect and the few persons who gathered at the bank when it opened deposited as well as withdrew money.

TITANIC SINKS AFTER COLLISION; LOSS OF LIFE IS APPALLING

Leviathan Sinks After Hitting Iceberg, Carrying Down to Death Probably 1,500

New York, April 16.—The greatest marine disaster in the history of the world occurred last Sunday night when the Titanic of the White Star line, the biggest and finest of steamships, shattered herself against an iceberg and sank with 1,500 of her passengers and crew in less than four hours.

Out of nearly 2,200 persons that she carried only 675 were saved and most of those were women and children. They were picked up from small boats by the Cunarder Carpathia, which found when she ended her desperate race against time, a sea strewn with the wreckage of the lost ship and the bodies of the drowned men and women.

Staggering in the ice field into which she had driven at great speed the Titanic sped call after call to the hurrying liners of the upper roads—the Cunarder Carpathia, the Virginian and the Parisian of the Allon line, the great Baltic, the Good Samaritan of the Atlantic and the big Germans that were plowing their way between continents.

Wireless Summons.
The wireless once more proved its worth, for the Carpathia and the Virginian, wheeling in their course, sped through the night venturing unknown dangers to save the lives of the passengers.

It has been many years since the world was left in such suspense and dread as followed the first faltering calls for help from the crushed Titanic. At 10:30 p. m. on Sunday the operator on the Virginian caught the cry for help:

"Have struck an iceberg; badly damaged. Rush aid."
Other liners heard the call and soon a dozen or more greyhounds of the sea were rushing toward the ill-fated liner. But the Virginian was nearest, barely 170 miles away. She went about and headed under forced draught for the spot indicated in one of the last of Operator Phillips' messages. She is a fast ship and her wireless has told the story of how she put her best licks stretching through the night to get to the Titanic in time.

Liners Speed to Titanic.
While the liners sped in the night with all the drive that steam could give them the Titanic's call reached to Cape Race in Newfoundland and the startled operator heard this message which quickly reached New York: "Have struck an iceberg; we are badly damaged Titanic."

Cape Race threw the appeal broadcast wherever the tendons of the apparatus could carry, so that for hours while the world waited for a crumb of news as to the safety of the great ship's people not one thing more was known except that she was drifting, broken and helpless and alone in the midst of a waste of ice.
And it was not until seventeen hours after the Titanic had sunk, carrying with her part of her crew and some of her passengers, that the words came out of the air as to her fate.

Communication Ceases.
It was 12:17 a. m. Monday while the Virginian was still plunging eastward that the communication from the Titanic ceased. The Virginian's operator fed the air with blue flashes in a desperate effort to know what was happening to the crippled liner, but no message came back. The last word from the Titanic was she was sinking. Then the sparking became fainter and finally died out.
It was this ominous silence that so alarmed the other vessels hurrying to the Titanic and caused so much suspension. And in the long hours that followed there was no explanation of that dying away of the wireless. At any rate the Titanic, already water-logged, her end a certainty, was as much cut off from the world as if she were already on the ocean bottom.
The wireless has given just a hint, a suggestion of the joy that flashed over the passengers of the doomed vessel when the Carpathian was made out, her lights showing clear and bright beyond fields of ice peaks where

WIRELESS DISPATCHES

Reports of Titanic Disaster From Several Points.
St. John, N. F., April 16.—A wireless says the Titanic sank at 2:20 Monday morning. The Carpathia was the first to reach the scene. She rescued 675 persons. It is not known what is the fate of the remaining 1,500 souls.

London, April 16.—A Marconigram from Cape Race reached here to the effect that when the steamship Carpathia arrived on the scene at day-break she found only boats and wreckage. The dispatch also states that the Titanic foundered at 2 o'clock Monday morning. Six hundred and seventy-five of the passengers and crew were saved. The former were nearly all women and children.

Boston, April 16.—A dispatch received here says that 1,500 people were lost on the Titanic. Six hundred and forty-seven have been saved and are on the Carpathia. Scenes of terrible panic are reported.

The Titanic had dashed herself. Although the Virginian had been the first to hear the appeal the Carpathian was the first of the relief ships to arrive. Her pathway was strewn with perils for on every side mighty bergs uprose in a quiet sea.

Wireless Tale.
As the wireless tells the story in fitful, interrupted periods the sea ways between the icebergs were crowded with the wallowing boats of the Titanic, and the great ship herself, bow crushed, half-full of water forward, was heeling forward on her forefoot, her stern high out of water, so that the tremendous screws were visible beneath the surface. It was a spectacle of marine disaster that can never fade from the memory of seamen who came up on the Carpathian.

What took place in the next heart-breaking hour is not known definitely, for out of the icy waste have come but two messages which appear to cover the time. One is that the Carpathia and the Virginian picked up most of the passengers and perhaps half of the crew. The other was the Titanic sank at 2:20 a. m. Monday.

Passengers Take to Boats.
It appears from the news that Captain E. J. Smith of the Titanic, realizing that there was no chance of his vessel staying above water and that reliance must be had on the small boats. With such the ship was splendidly equipped. He had fifty lifeboats, wide, unsinkable, capable of resisting the battering of heavy seas. They were capable of holding fifty persons each. The women and children were placed in some of these boats, each boat in charge of an officer of the ship. Then the old men and each of the men passengers as were ill or afflicted were ordered into boats and after these had been accommodated, room was found for hundreds more.

So far as could be told from the egregiously scant wireless messages from the ships the Titanic was surrounded by threatening icebergs when the Carpathia blazed through the gloom. It was a long and perilous task, but the Carpathia so maneuvered that more than 300 of the Titanic's passengers found their way to her decks.
From 400 to 1,500 Dead.
All of the early reports placed the ships in the neighborhood of the Titanic. If, as supposed, Captain Smith lowered his small boats soon after the collision most of the passengers and crew may have been rescued, but from the spot of the disaster, 1,000 miles to the northeast, such scraps of news as filtered through the air increased the number of dead. The loss of life was variously reported from 400 to 1,500.

Late messages gave the figures at 1,500 and the idea gradually became fixed that only the Carpathia and the Virginian got to the Titanic in time and that the majority of passengers and crew had perished with the sinking of the ship before the vessels arrived in the ice drift.

At the outset and until she happened on the death trap of ice on the grand banks the Titanic voyaged pleasantly and evenly. Ships that spoke to her reported that she was living up to the anticipations of her builders and of her line. Following the usual course until south of the grand banks she came to turn for her direct westward course to this port. And there she entered the mass of ice that had worried navigators before the Titanic found her grave yard there.

Trying to Get News.
The officials of the White Star line are struggling to get into communication with the Carpathia which has boarded the 675 women and children from the Titanic, but not one word of news can they obtain.

The Marconi stations were trying also to get in touch with either the Carpathia or the Allan liner Virginian to find out if all of the rescued were on board the Carpathia or whether the Virginian carries others that were saved. The Marconi people were unsuccessful.

The latest news was that the Carpathia had started for New York. She should reach here some time tomorrow afternoon.

White Star Line Offices in New York Besieged by Anxious Relatives and Friends

New York, April 16.—The offices of the White Star company are overrun with inquiries as to the fate of the passengers aboard the Titanic.
Colonel Astor's son Vincent, with Colonel Astor's secretary, W. A. Dobbin, and A. J. Drexel Biddle, inquired anxiously at the White Star offices but when the officials of the line told the meager news they had Vincent became much affected and was weeping when he left the office.

A score of inquirers surrounded the information clerk at all times but they could get no news except that the Carpathia is bringing 675 of the Titanic's passengers.
Sylvester Byrnes, secretary for Isador Straus, said that Mr. Straus' son Herbert had left for Halifax with the expectation of meeting his father there.

Many women callers were anxious for friends. Among them were Mrs. Addison Wheelock of this city, Mrs. Wheelock was inquiring for her sister Mrs. D. W. Martin and the latter's husband who are returning from their honeymoon abroad.

The White Star officials gave out the following statement:
"We have found that the Carpathia has on board between 600 and 700 of the Titanic's passengers. We don't know where the Virginian and Parisian are nor how many they have aboard."

Officer Lets News Out.
The first intimation from the officers of the company that there had been a loss of life was dropped accidentally by one of them. He spoke of "survivors" being on the Carpathia and when asked how great was the loss said that he did not know yet because it was not certain how many passengers had been rescued by the Virginian and Parisian. All the officers of the company located in New York were at a conference when the sinking was reported.
It was later when the first dispatches that there had been a great loss of life in the wreck reached the newspaper men from outside sources. Mr. Franklin would not be seen to confirm or deny the reports. But immediately following it was evident that some thing important had happened.

Suddenly the entire office force of clerks and stenographers who had been told to get a hasty supper and return at once, began dashing off copies of the passenger list of the Titanic.

Within a few minutes after the first news was flashed that the Titanic had sunk the telephone switch of the White Star company was choked with calls and inquiries.

Not Holding Back Details.
Vice President Franklin said that he had received no reply from wireless messages sent in all directions in an effort to pick up the Olympic and Carpathia for more details. He insisted that he was not holding back anything but that he was making all news public as fast as he received it.

In reply to questions Mr. Franklin said that the Virginian could not have been towing the Titanic at any time because she could not have reached the Titanic in time. She had been trying in every way to get word from the Parisian as to what they could tell in the way of details but while the White Star agents in Halifax reported they had used every means to communicate with the vessel they had failed.

"The Carpathia must have picked up passengers who were in lifeboats," said Mr. Franklin. "As to what had become of the other passengers Mr. Franklin said the reports were discouraging."

Captain Smith Probably Went Down.
"Do you believe that Captain Smith went down with the ship?" Mr. Franklin was asked.
"From what I know of Captain Smith I believe that if anybody stayed on board and went down with the ship Captain Smith did," replied Mr. Franklin.

The fate of the Titanic established that no modern steamship is unsinkable and that all of a large passenger list cannot be saved in a liner's small boats. The White Star line believed that the Titanic was practically invulnerable and insisted until there was no doubting the full extent of the catastrophe that she could not sink. The great ship was the last word in modern scientific construction, but she found the ocean floor almost as quickly as a wooden ship.

Anxiety in France.
Paris, April 16.—One hundred and seventy-four saloon passengers embarked on the Titanic at Cherbourg. Most of these were Americans. There is intense anxiety at all the American centers such as the Ritz and other hotels as to the safety of the passengers.

Set Dates For Examination.
Indiana, Pa., April 16.—June 19 and 20 have been set by the state board for the examination of students of the Indiana State Normal school here.

TITANIC LARGEST SHIP

White Star Liner Was on Maiden Voyage Across Ocean.
New York, April 16.—The Titanic was the largest ship in the world. She was of 45,000 tons register and 65,000 tons displacement. She was 885½ feet long and 92½ feet beam. Besides having accommodations for 3,000 passengers, the ship carried a crew of 860 men.

The Titanic was launched at Belfast last May and was regarded as a marvel of size, speed, power and luxury. She had nine decks of solidly constructed steel. She was on her maiden voyage across the Atlantic.
An idea of the immensity of the Titanic may be gathered from the fact that in length she would stretch over four city blocks and standing on end would be more than 100 feet higher than the highest building in New York.

Captain Smith, who commands the Titanic, met with disaster last September when he was in command of the Olympic, the Titanic's sister ship. The Olympic and the British cruiser Hawke collided while the former vessel was outward bound in Cowes Roads. The Olympic was badly damaged and was laid up for three months for repairs.

ANOTHER THAW INQUIRY

Mental Condition of Harry K. To Be Again Examined.
New York, April 16.—A new judicial inquiry into the mental condition of Harry K. Thaw is to be held before Supreme Court Justice Stapleton in Brooklyn under a writ of habeas corpus issued by Justice Stapleton.

The writ directs the production of Thaw in court next Friday. Mrs. Thaw stated in her petition that she has caused an examination to be made of her son by eminent physicians during the past few months and she is advised by them that Harry K. Thaw is suffering from no mental disease at the present time and is now sane.

Healthy Mothers

Women who bear children and remain healthy are those who prepare their systems in advance of baby's coming. Unless the mother aids nature in its pre-natal work the crisis finds her system unequal to the demands made upon it, and she is often left with weakened health or chronic ailments. No remedy is so truly a help to nature as Mother's Friend, and no expectant mother should fail to use it. It relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes pliant and elastic those fibres and muscles which nature is expanding, prevents numbness of limbs, and soothes the inflammation of breast glands. The system being thus prepared by Mother's Friend dispels the fear that the crisis may not be safely met. Mother's Friend assures a speedy and complete recovery for the mother, and she is left a healthy woman to enjoy the rearing of her child. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. # THE PILOTS

Pilot Schooner During Winter Cruise

Pilot Boat at Work

The Watch Below Decks

Pilot Boarding Steamer

CHE pilot! What a world of romance the very mention of the word conjures to the imaginative mind. Who has not read James Fenimore Cooper's famous sea yarns, and felt their blood tingle as they read the story of how the seemingly impossible was accomplished?

And yet these who are today the pilots of our coast are just such sturdy, stalwart men, but were one to say romance to them they would laugh, even as it is the custom of seafaring men to forget the danger and toll of a voyage as soon as harbor is reached.

Pilotage is a trade that few pursue, not because it is so dangerous but rather because of the conditions that prevail to make the present day pilots a chosen few who exist that our commerce may be all the more aided.

In keeping with the times pilotage has undergone a great change during the past 40 years, and now it is a business proposition, at the same time representing a tremendous advance in the communication interests.

From the beginning the use of vessels for transportation there have been pilots. Thus their calling is an old and honorable one. The monarchs of the Mediterranean heaped high honors upon the pilots. They wore the richest emblems of office and they were looked upon with high esteem. And well that they were for, even in those days, there was developed the keen sense of commercialism to the extent that a vessel would be of little value were there not someone to guide it through the tortuous channels and bring her and her cargo safely home.

Following the pilot who always went with his ship came the dove-tail of the local pilot, the man who met ships at the entrance to the port and carried them in and out again. Gradually this system of local pilotage has expanded until now there is scarcely a vessel in the world where a signal from a vessel will not bring out a pilot.

Great numbers of these local pilots still employ the most primitive means of reaching ships lying in the offing. Some of them use sailing craft, of the local type, while others use canoes. Even from that well developed port of Port Antonio, Jamaica, the pilots generally come out to the steamers in small canoes, paddled by two darkies.

Along the Atlantic coast, at the mouths of the great bays of New York, Delaware and Chesapeake, pilotage has been brought up to the highest standard possible, fine, sea-going steamers are owned and hundreds of thousands of dollars are annually expended to maintain the efficiency of the service.

On the bridge of a Steam Pilot

The evolution of the Atlantic coast pilot has been brought about at the cost of many lives and great expenditure of money, while the story affords some of the most exciting reading of history.

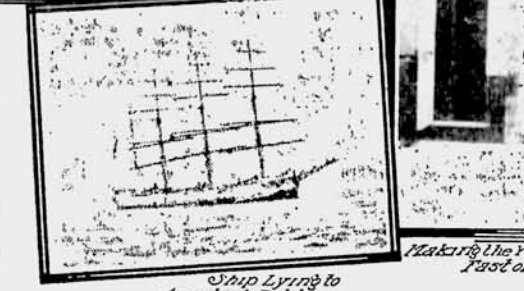

Each seabornd state took care of its own pilotage to the extent of licensing anyone who could navigate the harbors. The work was arduous, but it paid handsomely and many young men were attracted to it. Being a pilot, however, was one thing and having a boat was another, for it was sometimes necessary to be at sea in all kinds of weather.

This drove the pilots together for mutual benefit. Half a dozen or more would combine, buy or build a small schooner and seek prizes in deep water, the last man to bring in the schooner. It would be but a short time before another half a dozen men would also have a schooner, and then began the days of competition; days that will ever be remembered for deeds of daring and even foolhardiness.

As the number of boats on any one station increased the little boats would venture farther seaward in their quest, remaining close to the path of shipping despite even hurricanes. Often these little craft have been known to remain off shore a week or ten days at a time, sometimes without even sighting a sail, and return to port with water and provisions exhausted.

With the pilots the law of the survival of the fittest was applied with all the rigor that even the sea itself enforces. It was a case of the victor bologned the spoils. The moment a sail or smudge of smoke was seen on the horizon every pilot boat started for it.

It mattered little to the men on the opposing boats what the weather might be. The more wind the better while mountainous seas were entirely disregarded. The first man to reach the vessel would get her. Every bit of sail that could be carried was swung on, the pilot boats were driven for all they were worth. Under pressure of sail the little craft would lay almost on their beam ends, water would run a foot deep in the lee scuppers while over their windward bows the crests of waves would come in solid cataclysms.

In such races it was not uncommon to lose sails, masts and even members of the crews, yet, it was these very races that led to the development of the fast sailing schooners and gave to the pilot boats the reputation of being the swiftest craft afloat.

It is said on good authority that it was the lines of a famous Maryland pilot boat, the Henry Clay, that were adopted for the hull of the old cup winner America.

Nor was it in gales of wind alone that the pilots raced. When there was not a whisper of wind and the water was as smooth as a dancing floor the sight of a distant sail spurred the men to take to their small boats and row, often as much as ten miles, straining nerve and muscle and contesting every inch until the fortunate pilot was safely on the Jacob's ladder and ascending the ship's side.

At night and in thick weather the pilots played all kinds of tricks on each other. The law required that the pilot boats, in addition to their regular running lights, should carry a white light at the masthead. Every took renewed hope, procured an ax from the galley and chopped his way through the vessel's side and to life. Stories of heroism among the pilots are common. Individually and collectively they performed deeds entitling them to medals yet they never gave such things a thought. Only a couple of years ago Harvey Cunningham, a Virginia pilot, risked his life in a boiling surf to save two sailors after their skiff had capsized while landing on the beach at Cape Henry. A month or so later the same man risked not only his association's steamer, but the lives of all on board in rescuing the yawl yacht Taormina that was dragging in on the beach in a heavy sea. On the yacht were thirteen men, all of whom would have undoubtedly been lost.

The Civil War practically put an end to pilotage all along the coast, for most of the pilots went into the navies on the two sides. At the close of the war, the resumption of international trade and the development of steam craft there came a change in the pilot business, an evolution practically forced by the steamboat people. No longer they cared to pick up a pilot 20 or 30 miles off shore; indeed some of them declined to let the pilots on board until just off the capes.

In 1868 the pilots of Virginia formed an association, taking in all who were eligible and, in a few years, the example was followed all along the coast, until competitive pilotage was a thing of history. It was the Maryland Association that took the first great step of departure from the old and built a steam pilot boat. In 1880 they had constructed for them a steel steamer of 193 tons, 115 feet long and with 160 horsepower engines which they named Pilot.

Although steam craft have materially reduced the labor of the pilots, the danger is just as great as ever, if not greater, for the men still have to depend upon their small boats to board vessels. In a jump of a sea when a huge steamer is rolling it is hazardous to climb up a rope ladder 30 feet or more to the deck. As the huge hull rolls the ladder swings outward and then in again, liable to catch a man half way up the ladder and dash him to a terrific force against the iron side.

Indeed, not so long ago, a New York pilot, after reaching the deck of a steamer, dropped dead, his heart having given way under the strain of the long climb and the battering he received. Then, too, against the iron side the small boat is more liable to be stove in. This is, indeed, a matter of frequent occurrence, and there seldom passes a month but that some pilot is hauled to the deck soaked to the skin, to say the least.

In winter when the mouths of the bays are filled with floating ice the danger is greatly increased, but the greatest of all perils is fog. Then, for all hands on board, there is maintained a nerve-racking vigil not only on deck but in the engine room where the hand of the engineer never leaves the throttle. Right in the path of shipping, with giant steamers moving to and fro, a collision could mean but one thing for the pilot boat.

Often in the dead of night there is a mad jingle of bells followed by the whirring of the engine and the trembling of the whole vessel as the screw beats the water. Then one of the lookouts sticks his face in the companion way and shouts at the top of his lungs: "All hands on deck!" Instantly the sleeping men are on their feet. On their rudely awakened senses there falls the sound of the violent throbbing of the engines. Only too well they know what it means and they rush for the deck, perhaps just in time to see a huge, dark, towering mass of iron graze by the side of their boat.

An exchange of compliments is shouted; a sigh of relief follows; someone ejaculates, "D— close call that," and, ten minutes later, a dozen tollers of the sea, lured to just such experiences, are again below and lost in slumber.

Nor do the pilots ever hesitate to go to vessels in distress and rarely do they ask for salvage. They are well satisfied if they get a new harness and a letter of thanks from the owners and underwriters, coupled with the thanks of the rescued.

The pilot begins life at the very bottom when he enters the service as an apprentice. To him falls all the work of a common sailor, besides which he has to learn every foot of the bottom of his station. This knowledge is gained by sounding with a lead line and many weary, weary hours are spent in swinging a hunk of lead on a marked rope, calling out the depths and comparing the results of his experience with the regular charts.

Then there are landmarks he must learn, courses to be remembered until, theoretically, he can take a vessel anywhere. Upon having served his apprenticeship he is given his first branch, entitling him to take a vessel of light draft, though, in the meantime, he will have made numbers of trips with some of the regular men.

After having served as a first branch a man for a definite period, or until there is a vacancy by death or retirement, he becomes a full-fledged pilot and is entitled to buy a share in the business by taking out shares proportionate to the number of men in the association.

The association's shares always have a good cash value, and many a pilot, deciding to go ashore, has sold out and found a tidy sum to help him enter some other sphere of life. While in the service pilots work on the share-and-share-alike basis. All money is put in a common fund, the expenses are deducted and what is left over is divided equally every month. This, naturally, makes their income uncertain, and it is but fair to say that, in consideration of the hardships they endure and the risks they run, their remuneration is altogether too small.

Besides taking vessels in and out of port the pilots co-operate with national and state quarantine officers, signal stations for the completion of news for the mariners exchanges and with the hydrographic office. They are, in fact, a cog in the wheels of commerce which insure smooth running to maritime machinery and its various interests.

UNCLE SAM'S CLOTHING FACTORY

FEW people are aware that Uncle Sam runs an up-to-date clothing factory—one that is conducted on the same business principles as a private enterprise, and with as much if not more economy than any first-class clothing manufacturer in the country. The establishment occupies a large building in the Brooklyn Navy Yard, and here all the clothing worn by the forty-seven thousand sailors who man our great fighting machines is manufactured. The cloth used is selected with much care and by men who are experts in their knowledge of woollens. It is generally purchased from the large cloth manufacturers of the country, but only after the samples have been tested in the factory for the material must not shrink after it is made up. It must be durable and not affected by different climates. The goods are brought to the factory in huge rolls and sent to the sponging room on the top floor, where it is put through a thorough sponging and made absolutely non-shrinkable even though it has already been sponged for a sailor's clothing which would not stand water would be a useless thing. This process over, it is sent to the room below, where it is spread on large tables and the cutters begin their work. Here again economy is maintained, for the cutting is done by the aid of an electric cutting machine, and in this manner a dozen suits may be cut at the same time. An expert mechanic handles this machine, and there is rarely a misout. There is, of course, a regulation style for the clothing, and the designer, o-war's man, but this does not prevent the designer from making improvements for the better in cuts and shapes if possible. There must be plenty of room for free action in a sailor's clothing, yet he must be neat in appearance, and the baggy clothes worn by some of the sailors of European countries would not go for a moment on our battleships. The American seaman has long been regarded as the neatest dressed sailor man in the world, yet few persons realize just how much of this neatness owes to the designers and makers of his clothing in the Brooklyn factory. Hundreds of men of all sizes are to be fitted. Boys sometimes enter the Navy and from time to time outgrow their clothing. This is carefully watched by the officers on the ships and the Navy clothing factory is always ready to supply extras. The actual sewing on the clothing is not done in the factory, but is given out to women who do the work at home. In doing this Uncle Sam is the good angel of many a household, for the work is given out, preferably, to widows and daughters of veterans. These women have a private wear sweatshop made clothing, for the workers are paid living wages, and many women are able to keep themselves and their children, in a very comfortable home with the proceeds of the work they receive from the factory. During the busy season, such as when the fleet made its world's tour, the women often employ their helpers and turn their little homes into miniature factories for the time being. There is an old saying that the gentleman does excellent work in any calling, and this is especially true at the Navy clothing factory, for some of these gentlemanly widowed women are exceptionally neat in their sewing.

Compressing Clothing for Shipboard

The Designer at Work

In the Sponging Room

After the suits have been cut each one is examined to see that every piece fits together correctly, the necessary trimmings such as thread, buttons, braid, etc., are added. They are then done up in bundles ready for the women who come for work each morning. These women have a private entrance to the factory and begin to arrive between nine and ten o'clock, bringing the finished work as well. Each article is carefully inspected by a man who is rigid in his rules, and it is surprising how few pieces are condemned. The women are given slips as the work is passed, and pay day occurs twice every month. On receiving the unmade clothing the worker signs for it. About a dozen suits are taken out at a time. Several women who are expert embroiderers are kept busy embroidering stars for the collars and the insignia for the rating badges. Even in the dull season one hundred women are kept regularly at work. Besides the cloth suits the white working jumpers and trousers are made. Last year over one hundred and sixty thousand of these white cotton suits were turned out. The above mentioned figures will give some idea of the vast amount of business of this factory, for added to these articles were the blue flannel overalls, white dress jumpers, blue cloth trousers, overcoats, baseball suits, clothing for petty officers, mess attendants. Caps of various kinds were also manufactured, including more than one hundred and thirty thousand white drill hats, service stripes, rating badges, E's for following gun crews and good conduct stars. All the finished suits are inspected by three different persons before they are prepared for the compress. This work is especially interesting, and the method used in this factory has been copied by several European countries. Indeed, the workings of this machine is one of the sights of the Navy Yard when foreign dignitaries pay our Navy Yard a visit. Admiral Togo, the hero of Japan, who recently visited this country, was much impressed with its mechanism and the compress wheel was turned again and again in order that he might thoroughly understand its workings. After the last inspection has been passed the suits are nicely folded and tied together in a canvas covering. They are then placed in the compress machine, a wheel is turned and the pressure of one thousand pounds reduces the bale to nearly one-half its size. Heavy oil-cloth is then wrapped about the bundle so that it is absolutely watertight. One of these bales was thrown overboard recently to test its resistance to water and was washed up the following day, and when opened the clothing was found to be perfectly dry. A plentiful supply of clothing is kept on all the battleships, and as space is an item the compress machine is especially useful. Great care is used in keeping out moths, for hundreds of suits are always held in the storeroom, and to guard against the ravages of this insect a careful inspection is made of the entire stock each week.

Besides the manufacture of garments a hundred or more of the necessary articles used by the men on a battleship are purchased by the officer in charge of the clothing factory and thoroughly examined before they are sent to the ships. These include hair brushes, tooth brushes, combs, net underwear, towels, soap, etc. All the shoes worn by the sailor men pass through this factory, and last year nearly thirty thousand pairs of high shoes and over twenty thousand low shoes were "passed" for the ships. The sailor's shoes, too, must be of a certain cut—neat, yet heavy enough to keep out water. Over half a million pairs of black stockings were among the articles looked after at the factory. Even the tobacco used by the men is purchased and examined here, and last year over one hundred thousand pounds of plug tobacco was sent to the ships. Jack-knives, too, to the extent of four thousand were "passed." It is well known that the men do their own mending on ship-board and the purchase of sewing implements was another task of those in charge of the factory. Gigantic as this task seems every thing appears to move in the most perfect order, and there is harmony in all departments. The workmen and the women who sew have a scale of wages which seems to satisfy them, and Uncle Sam's factory has been free from strikes and labor disturbances. Good material and good workmanship and living wages are the workman's motto. The motto of the big industrial enterprise which is carried on by the United States Government for the purpose of equipping our sailors with the very best and most comfortable clothing—something well deserved by the brave boys who tread the decks of our great battleships and who stand ready at any time to defend the flag—even to the death.

CIVILIZATION AND DEPOPULATION.

EVER since the Empire of Rome conquered most of the then-known world and settled down to produce the first real civilized community, the scientists and statesmen have been saddened by the fact that it is an undeniable fact—that depopulation is one of the first evils that accompany an extremely high state of civilization. But an American does not need to hark back to Rome for a terrible warning as to the danger from depopulation amid a highly organized and much cultivated society. The French people at this moment offers to younger and more energetic civilizations a splendid specimen and a horrible example of a decadent nation. Yet France is a nation that is decadent only in the sense that for one half century—from 1860 to 1910—the population of France has ceased to increase in numbers. The first ten of these fifty years the French race increased a little—with a constantly decreasing momentum. This lasted until twenty years ago, when there was a period of ten years during which the population remained practically the same. During the first ten years of the present century—the French have become a race that is becoming smaller and smaller in its numerical force.

And the cause of this depopulation is not difficult to find; for it is simply the result of too much love of luxury and dress, too fine dinners, too much theater-going and too little of the simple home life that makes both men and nations healthy, normal and contented. If a statistician would search out the real root of the trouble it could be found out that city life has had the biggest part to play in killing off the French people. One-fifth—16th—of the population of France lives in Paris—in its suburbs or within a radius of a few miles of the biggest city on the European continent. And among these people the average of children to a family is a trifle under one-third to a family. Not three children or more to a family as is the average in the United States, but three families to one child. Such statistics furnished on the authority of the French government itself is enough to condemn from a national standpoint the existence of a tremendous city like the capital of France, and a commission of well known scientists and political economists has been appointed to study what means may be employed to save the future of the French race.

STEELMEN WIN EASILY OVER NEWARK MONDAY

Locals Outbat Visitors and Tally Six Runs—Kench and Ainsworth Twirl Good Ball and Ohio State Leaguers Are Helpless—Hits By Tate, Boucher, Gray and Brouthers Result in Runs—Mosely Arrives in Camp and Is in Fine Condition—Sheer Expected Daily—Team Practice For Balance of Week.

The Steelmen showed their class against the Newark team Monday afternoon when they defeated the Ohio State leaguers 6 to 0 in a very interesting game. Kench and Ainsworth pitched for the locals, and both boys showed drilled class. The visitors garnered but two hits from Kench, while Ainsworth let them down in three innings with-out a safety.

During the first two innings, both teams played cautiously, and Brouthers was the only man to get a hit. The locals started things in their share of the third, when Kench drew a pass, went to second on Gray's out, pitcher to first, went to third of Scott's out short to first, and scored on Conway's hit.

Boehler, who pitched for Newark, got a hit in the third and for a time it looked like a run would result. The hit came with one gone. Nally was safe on Boucher's error, but the fireworks were off when Williamson hit into a double, Scott getting the ball and tossing to Boucher, who in turn pitched to Tate. It was one of the prettiest doubles ever seen on the local field.

There was nothing doing in the run department again until the fifth. Kench was fired up and pitched out to pitcher to first. Gray hit a hard one to Markey at first. This had knocked the ball down and attempted to catch Gray when the pitcher covered the sack. He tossed the ball over Boehler's head and Gray took second. Scott drew a complete base on error.

Conway at this time poked out a long one to right, and Kendall ran back and captured the sphere on a lucky stab. Tate hit safely and Gray and Scott counted. Boucher then came to the rescue with a spectacular drive to the fence in deep left corner. Tate crossing the plate.

In the sixth the local stretched over a couple of more tallies. Brouthers, first up, hit for two stations. Goes, who was put in to catch in Orris' place, laid down a nifty sacrifice. Brouthers took third. Ainsworth went out second to first and Gray landed for a triple, scoring Brouthers. Scott hit to short, Gray counting, and Scottie was safe on a fizzle. Conway ended the inning by fanning.

No more hits were made. Both teams pitched nicely, and despite the fact that the score was one sided, the game was of an interesting character. Considering that the games of Sunday and Monday have been the only ones in which the Steelmen have battled against hard pitching, they have made a remarkable showing, especially with the willow.

Today Phillips will divide the squad up into two-teams. This kind of practice will be indulged in for the balance of the week until the Duquesne university team arrives Saturday. The collegians have a great outfit this season and are coming to defeat the locals. Earl Victor Mosely arrived in camp Monday afternoon. Aside from being a little sunburned, Mosely appears to be in excellent shape and says he is ready to go into a regular league game any time. His arm is in good condition and has not bothered him this year.

DATE NAMED

For Ohio State League To Start the Season—First Game April 25.

President Also Names Umpires—Harvey Pastorious, Harry Truby and Joe O'Brien Will Officiate.

New York, April 15.—Knock-Out Brown of New York and Young Erno of Philadelphia fought a ten-round draw at the Madison Athletic club last night. Brown had all the better of the early seasons of fighting, but by a whirlwind finish in the last half of the bout Erno managed to even things up.

Brown repeatedly sent Erno to the ropes with smashes to the face and body. He was particularly effective with his left swings to the body and in the third and sixth round nearly ended the battle. Erno was weak and sick only by sheer will power was he able to keep on his feet.

In the seventh Erno made a final rally. In the ninth and tenth rounds Erno smashed Brown at will. As far as cleverness was concerned Brown was a surprise and Erno was a disappointment. Erno missed Brown so many times that the crowd jeered.

A BREWER NOW.

Kid Elberfeld Refused to Report to Chattanooga And Is Sold to Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, April 16.—The Milwaukee club has purchased the release of Norman Elberfeld, the veteran infielder, from Washington, that player having refused to report to Chattanooga, to which club he was sold previously.

Columbus, O., April 16.—Within the first three days of the Ohio State league season, each of the six clubs will have played its opening game at home. According to the schedule adopted at a meeting here Monday afternoon, the starting date was fixed for Thursday, April 25, with the clubs assigned as follows: Portsmouth at Chillicothe; Marion at Lima; Mansfield at Newark; On Friday, April 26, Chillicothe

Stahl Anxious to Show Fans He Can "Come Back"

Boston, April 15.—Jake Stahl realizes that he has a big task ahead of him and says he's glad of it, for he is confident that he will prove himself equal to the double opportunity. In the first place, Stahl, who has been out of the game for a season, must show that he can "come back." Secondly, he has got to prove his worth as manager, in which capacity this is his initial attempt. The showing made by his team in practice leads Stahl to the conclusion that they have a chance to grab this year's pennant.

FIELD DAY AT SOUTHERN PARK

The Public Schools Will Hold Annual Event On May 31st.

Traction Company Will Haul Paraphernalia To and From the Park Free of Charge.

The annual field day exercises of the public schools will be held this year at Southern park on May 31. This was decided upon officially at the meeting of the board of education Monday night.

Supt. of Schools N. H. Chaney presented the matter to the board at its meeting Monday evening. He said that the teachers and principals favored Friday, May 31 the day following Decoration day. Dr. Chaney also said that the Youngstown & Southern railway, owners of Southern park, had agreed to transport free of charge the teachers and pupils and any needed apparatus to and from the park for the occasion. A representative of the railway was present at the board meeting and supported Dr. Chaney's statement as to what the company would do.

After some little discussion the board agreed on the date and accepted the proposition of the Youngstown & Southern. The public schools will not hold seasons either on Decoration day or on field day. A big crowd is expected at Southern park to attend the field day exercises, which are one of the biggest events of the school year, the pupils of the different schools competing with each other in track and field sports. This year it is expected interest will be added by lively competition between the young athletes of home schools and South High school, who will participate in the exercises.

The board Monday evening also authorized the Director of Schools to buy athletic equipment for the high schools and the grade schools, including forty permanent hurdles. This equipment will cost about $75, according to the estimate of the director.

WANT PLAYER LIMIT RAISED

O. & P. Clubs Locate Many Charity Ball Players and Want To Carry Them.

Teams Have Youngsters Who Wish To Break Into Professional Ranks—Limit Is Twelve Men.

Sharon, Pa. April 15.—A united effort will be made by the managers in the O. and P. leagues to set aside the rule which limits the size of a team to twelve players. The managers now desire that they be allowed to carry as many players as they please so long as they keep inside the $1200 monthly salary limit.

Manager Palko is one of the managers who believes that such a move would result in much financial good to the teams. There are plenty of young base ball players who are desirous of entering the game and are willing to play for a very low salary. Offers have been received from players who are willing to accompany the team if only expenses are paid.

The matter of revising the rules will be brought up at the next meeting and favorable action is anticipated.

BROCK STOPS JACK ROSE IN SIXTH ROUND

Cleveland Proves Master of Hard-Hitting Local Featherweight.

JACK CALLAN SHADES CONNERS

Local Lightweights Give Grand Exhibition and Are Cheered Liberally For Their Work.

In the sixth round of a scheduled 12-round go, Matt Brock of Cleveland stopped Jack Rose of this city in the final bout of one of the best fistie cards ever staged in this city. Brock's superiority at in-fighting enabled him to wear the local boxer down. After a thrilling mix in the sixth session the Cleveland fighter planted a left hook on Rose's jaw that sent him to the mat and kept him there for the count. It was a classy exhibition with both men giving their efforts to in-fighting almost entirely.

Brock An In-fighter.

The Cleveland boy demonstrated his prowess at fighting at close range in the opening session. Both boys went into a partial clinch soon after the bell sounded for hostilities. Brock's defense in the clinches was a feature, as was his ability to take advantage of openings with his free hand, locating the colored boy's face with effect from the start. The boxers agreed to straight rules, protecting themselves at all times, hitting with one arm free, and breaking at the referee's command.

Rose Was Punished.

Repeatedly Brock would put his left in action with piston-like rapidity, the majority of the blows falling on Rose's chin and nose. Some of the spectators set up a cry of "tactics," but it is doubtful if there were three such blows struck during the life of the bout. Brock simply bested his man at Rose's own game. The local boy is decidedly an in-fighter, but not in the same class with the man who stopped him last night.

Rose's Best Blows Were Landed at Range Preceding the Clinches.

In the fifth Rose landed a left on the Cleveland boy that shook him, Brock stepping back to get his bearings. Returning, Matt met Rose in the clinch and again punished him severely, the bell sending the colored boy to the corner under apparent distress.

The Sixth Was Thriller.

The sixth and final session was a thriller. The men came from the corners and were at it before the sound of the bell had died away. Rose gave promise of recuperation, landing a left and right to the jaw and left to the wind before a clinch. With the speed and grace of a streak of lightning, Brock shot his left up, catching Rose on the point of the chin. Three times he rocked the local lad's head. The fighting ceased and Referee Simms parted the men. They sparred and after a clinch near Rose's corner, Brock pushed his man away and landed a terrific left hook that dropped Rose.

A Number of Fans Cried foul, claiming Brock had struck Rose with his elbow, but this, if considered, would be a physical impossibility. Brock was Rose's master all the way through. From the second round it looked like but a matter of time until Brock would win. Many looked for it in the fifth, and when Rose returned stronger in the sixth, it was a general surprise to see him take the count in that session.

Large Crowd Present.

The large crowd present enjoyed the milling all the way. There was no stalling, both boys digging into the fray all the time, the only thing that mended the bout was the repeated and provoking cries of "foul" when there were really not more than two fouls committed, and these were unquestionably unintentional. Neither of the boys appeared to be inclined toward any but legitimate tactics, but it is difficult to fight under the rules to which both agreed, without having many of the blows at close range called foul. Brock is a great little miller and could doubtless give many of the so-called toponch feathers in the country a hard run for their money. He pleased the big gathering immensely, if the liberal cheering that greeted his victory is a fit criterion by which to judge.

The semi-final was an interesting mill and goes to Callan. There is little doubt that Farragher's protegee landed the greatest number of clean blows, and carried the milling all the way. Connors changed his style somewhat, but apparently lost some little favor on the two occasions when he turned his back to Callan, as the latter followed him in an effort to land.

An Unpleasant Task.

To award the glory in a match of this kind is one of the unpleasant duties that results when the contestants are local products. However, the shade can be given as it appeared, and it was surely in Callan's favor.

In the first Callan landed safely three times without a return when Connors did land, it was in the clinches. He seemed to lose the use of his left jab which he used effectively in several instances against Sammy Troit. The second was Callan's by a shade. In the fourth, Connors again looked good, but slowed after battling in the center of the ring.

Connors Strong.

In the third Connors started out strong. He landed left and right to Callan's face, and for a time it looked favorable for Johnson's boy. Jack, however, stood toe to toe and slugged until the clinch. Callan exhibited the best footwork. The round ended slow. In the fourth, Connors again looked good, but slowed after battling in the center of the ring.

The fifth, sixth and last rounds were about even. Both boys landed nicely, but in the seventh Callan finished with much to his credit. Connors did not seem to have even the excellent defense he has used on previous occasions, losing it almost to a marked degree as he did with Troit.

Both Plucky Boys.

Connors and Callan are both plucky boys. There is no doubt whatever that Callan is far the most gentlemanly, and in the absence of a knockout the bout has but to be judged on the point system, giving the shade to the boy who landed the greatest number of clean blows, the one that carried the milling and escaped with the least punishment. The crowd showed no hesitancy in disapproving of Connors' turning, and nothing further on that point is necessary. The boys should be booked for a 12-round go, as it looked last night there would surely be a definite ending before bell No. 12 was sounded. In the curtain raiser Andy Smith stopped Jack Harper in the first. The latter boy did not have the defense, and after several hard jabs and swined had fallen on him he was in distress and an easy prey for Smith. He looked mighty good when he stepped out, and he will give a great account of himself when he gives a defense to Jack. Ever since the announcement was made that the third man in the ring in the opener, Tony Ross officiated in the semi, while Bill Simms refereed the final.

INJURED HAND

Will Have Bonesetter Recose Examination Member—May Keep Illm Out of Ring For Some Time.

Jack Callan, who battled Billy Connors at the Auditorium Monday night, will of necessity have to remain out of the ring for a few weeks at least owing to an injury to his hand sustained in the second round. He broke his left hand when he hit Connors, and at present is unable to tell how extensive the injury is. Mike Raftery stated after the bout that he would take Connors to Bonesetter Reese to determine whether any bones were broken, because if the hand is free from fractures, the injury will undoubtedly repair within a few weeks. It was the first injury the local boy has ever sustained in the ring during his few years of boxing.

Your Hair Needs Parisian Sage

Use It As a Dressing—Banish Dandruff—Stop Falling Hair and Scalp Itch.

PARISIAN SAGE, the delightful and invigorating hair tonic, is a true hair nourisher. It penetrates into the scalp and gets to the roots of the hair, kills the dandruff germs, and supports the hair just the kind of nourishment it needs to make it grow abundantly. Since its introduction into America, PARISIAN SAGE has had an immense sale, and here are the reasons:

- It does not contain poisonous sugar or lead, nitrate of silver or sulphur or any injurious ingredient.
- It cures dandruff in two weeks by killing the dandruff germ.
- It promptly stops itching of the scalp.
- It makes the hair soft, glossy and luxuriant.
- It gives life and beauty to the hair. It is not sticky or greasy.
- It is the faintest perfumed hair tonic made.
- It is the best, the most pleasant and invigorating hair dressing made.

Made only in America by Giroux Mfr. Co., Buffalo, N. Y. The girl with the Auburn hair is our every package. The price is only 50 cents at all drug and department stores, and at counters where toilet goods are sold. Averbek Drug Co. guarantees it.

TO RESUME RACING HERE

Senator Tod Completes Plans For Staging Events At Southern Park.

BUILDING BIG STAND

To Accommodate Thousand People—Expect To Hold First Meet Here July 4—May Join Circuit.

Work has been started on fitting up Senator David Tod's new race track at Southern park. A gang of laborers has been busy since good weather commenced putting in foundations for the grandstand and fixing up the half mile tracks, which it is expected will be used for the first time this summer for races.

Senator Tod stated Monday afternoon that he expected to have the grandstand completed in a month. It will accommodate a thousand people and already plans are being considered by Senator Tod and others interested for an opening light harness meet at the track on July 4.

Senator Tod says that he has heard from a large number of horse owners and trainers from all over the country this spring who want to bring their horses down to Southern park to train. The new park is already being regarded by horsemen throughout the country as one of the very best in point of facilities and location.

Senator Tod says that he is going to devote a large part of his time to establishing the new racing park. In all likelihood he will take the leading part in organizing the "Southern Park Racing association," which will conduct the matters and races in the country. It is the senator's hope and wish that a pretentious independent meet lasting several days shall be held this season at the track. If these plans go through Youngstown people will have the chance to see some of the best trotters and pacers in the country in action. The Southern park track may also joint the Lake Erie circuit. This is being considered.

One of the chief obstacles in holding a first class race meeting in Youngstown this year is lack of hotel facilities. A first class meet brings a thousand to five hundred strangers to a city and until the new hotel is built they would find difficulty in securing hotel accommodations. However, in another year this difficulty will be removed.

HAPPY WANT HINT

Who can compute the happiness that the Vindicator Wants have been responsible for in the return of lost articles? The Vindicator Wants have done such splendidly efficient work in restoring lost articles to their owners that now it's the accepted order of things, just as soon as a loss is known, to send or phone a Vindicator Want. Many have had the effective-ness of the Vindicator Wants demonstrated to them in other emergencies than through losing or finding—and they have found the Vindicator Want Columns equal to many emergencies of business and the home. Read the Vindicator Wants carefully.

Two Fascinating Books. Some rainy day when hardly any book seems good enough to make for the disappointment of not being allowed to get outdoors, suppose you try reading one of Prescott's histories, either the "Conquest of Peru" or the "Conquest of Mexico." I think it won't be long before you have forgotten all about the weather as you travel back on those delightful pages to a world that has vanished, a people that has died, a civilization picturesque and wonderful in the extreme, but like a burst soap-bubble, gone with all its radiance and its beauty. You will find these histories to be as full of breathless interest as any tale of adventure or romance written by Stevenson or Scott, for rarely have these delightful qualities been so combined as they were in these amazing conquests, where the old world overflowed into the new, but a new in name alone, for no one can tell how

BUSINESS CHANCES

Who's looking for a business chance? Who's in the market for realty that's offered at the best terms? Who's searching for a business partner or added capital? Who's seeking remunerative investment? There's a place where all such questions may be answered—the Vindicator Want Columns. Many and varied are the business chances in the Vindicator Want. There's constant change in the business world, opportunities of all kinds commanding various sums of money, deals that involve the transfer of small businesses and operations of large proportions. Business chances appeal to many.
